Nuclear Sub Warhead Is Put Within Test Target

Business And Nation Unity Aim

Blough Defends Price Increase

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — Roger M. Blough urged harmony today between business and government as the only setting for maximum progress by the economy and the nation.

But Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's largest producer, dismissed out of hand any suggestion that even indirect setting of prices by government "can ever serve the national interest in peacetime."

He called such an idea incomprehensible.

In a report prepared for stockholders at U.S. Steel's annual meeting, Blough defended the firm's recent price increase; said the action should not have surprised anyone, and made no commitment on future pricing moves —a decision he said should be shaped by market-place forces.

Differs on Wage View

He differed from President Kennedy's yardstick on non-inflationary wage settlements, holding they don't merit that label if employment costs are increased.

Blough, who clashed headon with the President last month when U.S. Steel posted—then withdrew—higher prices, told shareowners: "I do not believe that the public interest can ever be served by hostility between government and business."

He said he was encouraged by the President's recent speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce, an address cooly received by the audience of businessmen.

Corporate Profits

Blough called for great understanding of how corporate profits have lagged behind other segments of the economy since 1950, and the extent to which the lag is "weakening our industrial potential."

In this period, he said, they rose only from $22.8 billion to $23.3 billion last year—"or virtually not at all."

By contrast, the nation's wage and job benefits rose from $154 to $208 billion, business taxes jumped from $42 billion to $70 billion and income of the merchant-farmer-landlord segment from $47 billion to $80 billion, Blough continued.

"This depressed state of corporate profits certainly accounts in part for the fact that some $90 billions worth of America's industrial plant and equipment is obsolete today," he said.

Reds Know NATO Firm on Defense

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Soviet Union today had a clear warning that the Western allies, although divided on some lesser issues, remain united in their determination to defend their freedom by nuclear weapons if necessary.

The 15 member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, winding up a four-day strategy review that produced some disagreements on Berlin and nuclear policy, reaffirmed in their summing-up communique:

"The purpose of NATO is defense, and it must be clear that in case of attack (NATO) will defend its members by all necessary means."

5 Subs Committed

Backing up this pledge was a U.S. commitment of five nuclear-armed Polaris submarines to the technical command of NATO.

Foreign and defense ministers of the NATO powers ended the review Sunday. Their meetings had been marked by sharp and pointed words. The final communique reflected some of the debate.

Conference spokesmen had reported that the ministers generally approved Washington's current efforts to sound out the prospects of a Berlin agreement with the Russians. But the communique said only that the ministers took note of the U.S.-Soviet exploratory talks. This noncommittal wording was due to French reservations about the value of such talks.

To Exchange Data

On nuclear policy, the communique said it had "been decided to set up special procedures which will enable all members of the alliance to exchange information concerning the role of nuclear weapons in NATO defense."

This meant acceptance of a U.S. proposal for greater consultation on the use of nuclear weapons so that America's allies can better understand the destructiveness and consequences of nuclear war.

The new procedure will enable NATO nations to see comprehensive American nuclear studies previously classified as top secret. Actual bomb-making techniques still will be withheld.

Informed sources said this U.S. initiative stems from the Kenneay administration's belief that the tactical use of nuclear weapons would almost certainly set off a general nuclear war. The Americans feel that conventional infantry, armor and artillery are needed more than ever, and they hope information on the horrors of the nuclear alternative will spur the allies to speed up fulfillment of their conventional arms commitments.

The proposal for an independent NAT nuclear force was pushed into the background.

The communique again proclaimed NATO's determination to keep open the access routes to West Berlin and to maintain the "Western presence" in the former German capital.

100 With Schafer For Presentation Of Citizen Award

Approximately 100 men and women were at the testimonial dinner Saturday night to join Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary of the Kingston YMCA, as he received the Veterans of Foreign Wars citation as Citizen of the Year.

He received the award on recommendation of Joyce-Schirick Post 1386 during an impressive program at White Eagle Hall, Delaware Avenue, where speakers lauded his dedication to youth and projects for the benefit of the community.

Is National Honor

The citation is a national one issued by VFW headquarters in Washington to outstanding citizens throughout the nation selected by posts in their communities.

Principal speaker was Attorney Heyman (Sandy) Rothbart of New York City, state junior vice commander of the VFW. Chester Baltz, president of the board of directors of the YMCA stressed the pride his organization has in Schafer and his selection by the VFW; and Commander Martin J. Saban of Joyce-Schirick Post, who was chairman of the program, presented the Citizenship Award. Attorney Hubert A. Richter, a past commander of the post, was toastmaster.

Chosen by Past Leaders

Richter pointed out that five past commanders of Joyce-Schirick Post selected Schafer and made the recommendation to the national office, noting his dedication to serve youth of the community and his progressive programs at the YMCA.

Commending Schafer for teaching self reliance to the young, Vice Commander Rothbard said, "If we can teach our youth to think for themselves we do not have to worry about the future. It is an honor to be at the table with Lou Schafer who has been teaching self reliance for years."

Aimed Against Reds

He commended the Loyalty Day program of the VFW, remarking, "It is the way we have put the Communists off the streets with their May Day parades."

Terrorists Keep It Up In Algiers

By BERNARD V. LAVALLEE

ALGIERS (AP) — Secret army terrorists pursued their campaign of bloodshed in Algiers and Oran today, though French armored vehicles and barbed wire sealed off sensitive areas of both cities.

Five Moslems were slain and 14 wounded.

Three Moslems were killed and 10 were wounded by hit-and-run pistol and machine-gun attacks in Algiers.

Two died in Oran and four were wounded.

French military authorities seemed powerless to stem the attacks, which are aimed to stir the Moslem majority into reprisals against Europeans that would doom the prospect for independence of this North African territory.

The main post office in central Algiers was held up by a gang of Europeans who made off with with about $10,000. The secret army has been financing its campaign with robberies of this type.

A European was wounded by a stray bullet in another incident and one was kidnaped by two Moslems, authorities reported.

The new spurt of terrorism followed a relatively quiet weekend in Algeria. Eleven persons were killed in weekend attacks.

Police Investigate Fight, Ransacking Of Tecce Home

Local police were called Sunday night to check a "free-for-all" fight uptown resulting in arrests, and today continued investigation of reported ransacking of the home of a local woman who is under treatment for injuries at the Benedictine Hospital.

Two men were said to have entered the house and caused injury and damage early Sunday. Police said today there was no apparent connection between the two incidents, but by coincidence the woman is the mother of a young man, who police listed in the uptown trouble Sunday night.

Is At Hospital

The woman, Mrs. Rose M. Tecce, of 17 Stickles Avenue, police said, suffered a head injury, and possible other injuries, for which she is under treatment and observation at the hospital today. She is the widow of Anthony Tecce, who slightly less than a years ago suffered a fa-

Three Are Injured In Traffic Mishap On 9W Highland

Three persons were injured, three utility poles were snapped off and a motorist was summoned on a traffic violation Sunday night as the aftermath of a mishap that occurred at the intersection of Routes 299 and 9W north of Highland.

State Police said a car driven by George Orszulak, 53, of 26 Marino Road, Poughkeepsie, was traveling east on Route 299 at about 9:35 p. m., when the vehicle skidded across Route 9W and snapped off a utility pole which held cables attached to an overhead traffic warning flashing signal.

Orszulak suffered lacerations of the forehead. His wife, Catherine, 48, received possible chest injuries, and a passenger in the 1957 car suffered lacerations of the face. The injured were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Meanwhile, troopers said, a southbound tractor-trailer owned by the A.C.F. Leasing Co., Port Chester, became entangled in the sagging cables and pulled down two other poles at the intersection.

George Austin, 28, of Stamford, Conn., driver of the tractor-trailer, told troopers he didn't see the cable hanging over the highway. Austin was not injured. The traffic signals were damaged.

Troopers said the poles will be replaced today and the traffic signals will be repaired.

Orszulak was summoned by troopers on a charge of passing a stop sign.

Defeat $350,000 Highland School Bond Issue by 2-1

Voters in Highland Central School District turned out in large numbers on Saturday and for a second time defeated a $350,000 bond issue proposed to renovate the existing high and elementary schools.

The proposition was rejected by more than 2-1. The same issue was defeated on March 10. Saturday's vote was 988 to 407, compared with the earlier balloting when 573 voted against the bond issue and 555 favored the proposal.

To Meet Thursday

Expressing disappointment on the outcome of yesterday's vote, Charles Andola, president of Highland Board of Education, said a meeting is planned for Thursday night to discuss future plans to solve the present school situation.

District officials tabulating the votes, said 30 per cent more voters went to the polls Saturday to defeat the bond issue a second time in two months.

A total of 1,495 votes were cast Saturday compared to 1,151 in the March 10 balloting. It was reported that 100 votes failed to register on the machines on May 5. On March 10 there were 23 ballots voided.

Ready in Fall

A new high school is under construction on Pancake Hollow Road and is expected to be ready for occupancy in September.

School officials said the proposed renovation to the present school facilities at Highland was the second step in the school board's district program.

Adenauer Cautions On Recognition Act

BERLIN (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived in Berlin today and warned against any steps in current U.S.-Soviet contacts that could lead to recognition of Commnist East Germany.

"Nobody in the world believes in the sovereignty of the East zone," the 86-year-old West German leader told a news conference.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's departing personal ambassador in Berlin, delayed his return to the United States until Tuesday so he could talk with the chancellor. Clay greeted him at Tempelhof Airport as did Mayor Willy Brandt, Adenauer's Socialist opponent in West Germany's last general election.

The two-day visit is Adenauer's first since last August, soon after the Communists built the Berlin wall.

Gives Examples

Adenauer said some contacts between the two parts of Germany on a practical level were necessary and wise. He gave as examples the running of the railroads and interzonal trade.

But he declared that in dealing with such possibilities as an international body to control access to Berlin care should be taken that nothing was done which could be a first step toward eventual recognition of the Communist regime.

Could Go 3 Years

Adenauer said that East-West exchanges over Berlin could go on for two or three years without result. In this case the West's watchword must be to be very careful and remain united.

There is no question of the West accepting Soviet demands that Western troops quit Berlin and "President Kennedy's pledge to defend Berlin's freedom is quite clear," he said.

Adenauer said the policy of the East is based on the belief that Western unity could be broken. Therefore, he said, the most important result of the Atlantic alliance ministers' meeting in Athens was the unity displayed.

State Records 11 Fatalities Since Start of Weekend

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A sailor who was struck by a baseball and an infant who apparently choked on formula in the rear seat of an automobile on the State Thruway were among the victims of fatal accidents in New York State over the weekend.

Eleven persons were killed in traffic accidents, including two in each of two crashes.

Fire took one life during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night, and nine persons died in accidents of other types.

Henry Verzyl, 19, of Glendale, Queens, was struck on the temple Saturday when he walked between two boys tossing a baseball between them. He was dead on arrival at a New York City hospital.

Anthony Nalachowski III, four months, of Cheektowaga, apparently choked on formula Sunday night and died in the rear seat of his parents' car on the Thruway near Canastota.

Complete Success, Says Navy

Report Missile Fired From Below

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Polaris missile fired from a submarine in the Pacific dropped its nuclear warhead "right in the pickle barrel," an informed source said today.

This meant the nuclear-powered submarine Ethan Allen probably placed the warhead within a mile of the intended target in the Pacific nuclear test area.

The Navy said it considered the first full test firing of a Polaris test missile with its warhead a complete success. It declined to give any details.

However, it was learned the missile propelled the warhead close to the full range of nearly 1,400 miles and that it exploded in the air.

Was Submerged

The missile was reported to have been fired when the Ethan Allen was submerged.

Officials said the test firing was conducted under as close to bombat conditions as possible.

In a war situation, the submarine virtually always would fire its load of 16 Polaris missiles from beneath the surface where it would be safer from enemy attack.

The test involved a first generation Polaris missile. It is propelled by solid fuel. A second generation model now approaching readiness will travel more than 1,700 miles and a still later version will be able to hit targets nearly 2,900 miles from the launing sub.

5th in Series

The test Sunday was the fifth nuclear explosion in Operation Dominic—the series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The four previous shots were dropped from planes.

How far the missile darted over the Pacific or how much wallop it carried was not disclosed. A Polaris has a range of about 1,400 miles and its warhead's explosive power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT.

The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6:45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the

Approximately 300 people attended the 60th anniversary dinner of the Alumnae Association of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, Inc., Saturday night, and heard a history of the organization which reflected the growth of the hospital and the advancements in training for nurses.

The turnout of physicians, registered nurses, the clergy, civic leaders, industrialists and businessmen also joined in welcoming Miss Eunice Holmes from the hospital graduating class of 1897, and heard a talk on "Crime and Delinquency" by the Rev. George F. McKinney, chaplain, New York State Prison, Ossining.

The summarization history of the nursing school and Alumnae Association was given by Mrs. Marie Stewart, its president, who is also head of District 11, New York State Nurses Association.

Mrs. Stewart recited the accomplishments of the Association, which, along with working hand in hand with Kingston Hospital has made history otherwise. "Our alumnae have served in two world wars, and have served also in responsible nursing positions and community activities."

Father McKinney, referring to the spread of crime, named three important factors in molding youth into good citizens and stressed that the greatest force for the salvation of American youth is good example.

Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb Sr., toastmaster, introduced the speakers and had the pleasure of presenting an orchid lei to Miss Holmes, the honored guest from the class of 1897.

The invocation was by the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; the Prayer of Thanksgiving by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel Shea, pastor of St. Mary's Church and dean of Ulster County, and the benediction by Rabbi Herbert Bloom of Temple Emanuel.

The Rev. Father McKinney said in part:

"There is no doubt that for the past 20 years there has been a tremendous increase in crime and delinquency. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, points this out in his annual report to the Department of Justice when he says, 'Before this fiscal year ends approximately one million of the youth of America will appear before the courts charged with crime—the crime rate of America is outstripping the birth rate by a ratio of four to one'.

The two-day visit is Adenauer's first since last August, soon after the Communists built the Berlin wall.

Gives Examples

Adenauer said some contacts between the two parts of Germany on a practical level were necessary and wise. He gave as examples the running of the railroads and interzonal trade.

But he declared that in dealing with such possibilities as an international body to control access to Berlin care should be taken that nothing was done which could be a first step toward eventual recognition of the Communist regime.

Could Go 3 Years

Adenauer said that East-West exchanges over Berlin could go on for two or three years without result. In this case the West's watchword must be to be very careful and remain united.

There is no question of the West accepting Soviet demands that Western troops quit Berlin and "President Kennedy's pledge to defend Berlin's freedom is quite clear," he said.

Adenauer said the policy of the East is based on the belief that Western unity could be broken. Therefore, he said, the most important result of the Atlantic alliance ministers' meeting in Athens was the unity displayed.

Complete Success, Says Navy

Report Missile Fired From Below

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Polaris missile fired from a submarine in the Pacific dropped its nuclear warhead "right in the pickle barrel," an informed source said today.

This meant the nuclear-powered submarine Ethan Allen probably placed the warhead within a mile of the intended target in the Pacific nuclear test area.

The Navy said it considered the first full test firing of a Polaris test missile with its warhead a complete success. It declined to give any details.

However, it was learned the missile propelled the warhead close to the full range of nearly 1,400 miles and that it exploded in the air.

Was Submerged

The missile was reported to have been fired when the Ethan Allen was submerged.

Officials said the test firing was conducted under as close to combat conditions as possible.

In a war situation, the submarine virtually always would fire its load of 16 Polaris missiles from beneath the surface where it would be safer from enemy attack.

The test involved a first generation Polaris missile. It is propelled by solid fuel. A second generation model now approaching readiness will travel more than 1,700 miles and a still later version will be able to hit targets nearly 2,900 miles from the launing sub.

5th in Series

The test Sunday was the fifth nuclear explosion in Operation Dominic—the series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The four previous shots were dropped from planes.

How far the missile darted over the Pacific or how much wallop it carried was not disclosed. A Polaris has a range of about 1,400 miles and its warhead's explosive power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT.

The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6:45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the

Approximately 300 people attended the 60th anniversary dinner of the Alumnae Association of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing, Inc., Saturday night, and heard a history of the organization which reflected the growth of the hospital and the advancements in training for nurses.

The turnout of physicians, registered nurses, the clergy, civic leaders, industrialists and businessmen also joined in welcoming Miss Eunice Holmes from the hospital graduating class of 1897, and heard a talk on "Crime and Delinquency" by the Rev. George F. McKinney, chaplain, New York State Prison, Ossining.

The summarization history of the nursing school and Alumnae Association was given by Mrs. Marie Stewart, its president, who is also head of District 11, New York State Nurses Association.

Mrs. Stewart recited the accomplishments of the Association, which, along with working hand in hand with Kingston Hospital has made history otherwise. "Our alumnae have served in two world wars, and have served also in responsible nursing positions and community activities."

Father McKinney, referring to the spread of crime, named three important factors in molding youth into good citizens and stressed that the greatest force for the salvation of American youth is good example.

Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb Sr., toastmaster, introduced the speakers and had the pleasure of presenting an orchid lei to Miss Holmes, the honored guest from the class of 1897.

The invocation was by the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, pastor of St. James Methodist Church; the Prayer of Thanksgiving by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel Shea, pastor of St. Mary's Church and dean of Ulster County, and the benediction by Rabbi Herbert Bloom of Temple Emanuel.

The Rev. Father McKinney said in part:

"There is no doubt that for the past 20 years there has been a tremendous increase in crime and delinquency. J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, points this out in his annual report to the Department of Justice when he says, 'Before this fiscal year ends approximately one million of the youth of America will appear before the courts charged with crime—the crime rate of America is outstripping the birth rate by a ratio of four to one'.

100 With Schafer

Rothbard, who is active in the Voice of Democracy program, said "Let us be vigilant" and be not misled by the forces trying to undermine freedom from within.

"Let us all do what Lou Schafer has done, teach our youth the right course. If we do, we will have accomplished our purpose—keeping America free and strong."

YMCA Proud

President Baltz of the YM directors said to the VFW, "We feel you have honored the YMCA in choosing Lou Schafer as Citiben of the Year and we are happy to take part in your program."

Members of the board were introduced.

Baltz said "You know YMCA workers do not get rich. Lou Schafer's choice of his work was a desire of the heart. He is doing something he wants to do . . . He's never too busy to talk with youth and help youngsters with their problems."

He was proud to point out that Schafer, who will be at the local Y 20 years next January, has taught more than 20,000 to swim, has taken part in projects to help worthy causes, and has played Santa Claus at so many functions "some of our youngsters think he really is Santa."

"He can walk down the street and say hello to more young people than anyone else."

Mrs. Schafer beamed with pride as the accolades flowed as did Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Lawrence, their son-in-law and daughter, who have presented him with a grandson, Loren Lester.

Other Recipients

Other Citizens of the Year chosen in the past who attended the dinner were Bob Browning, local newscaster recently elected to the Kingston School Board; Capt. Edward Albrecht of the Kingston Fire Department (retired); Addison Jones, businessman and prominent sports figure and Joseph Kelly, former alderman at large, who is city editor of The Freeman.

Others who have received the award are Herman Knaust, Saugerties industrialist; James M. Krom, who arranged ceremonies for return of war dead; Miss Catherine M. Murphy, former executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association; Richard M. Kalish, community leader in hospital and educational fields; and two men who have died, E. Frank Flanagen and Harry L. (Pop) Edson, a friend of veterans and leader in youth work respectively.

The citation presented by Commander Saban referred to Schafer as Citizen of the Year, a real leader in body and spirit and a shining example to our youth.

Appreciates Honor

Schafer, who said he deeply appreciated the honor conferred on him, said he enjoyed his work and said "if you have the spirit, you never get tired working to do something for people."

His mother was his first inspiration, she was a good church worker. Men working with him in the YMCA give him spirit to carry on because they are interested in the same goals he aims for. "I'm thankful for their cooperation and the encouragement they give," he said.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. John H. Fessner, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, which Mr. Schafer attends, and the benediction by the Rev. John J. Murray of St. Peter's Church, and chaplain of Joyce Schirick Post.

New Card System

mits a person to donate his or her eyes upon death by signing a pledge card with the signature of two witnesses. This change will avoid delay and save many eyes which are now lost while getting next of kin to sign a release. 57 persons have had their sight restored to date through the Kingston Lions Club.

The Sight Conservation Society acts as a clearing house, making all arrangements for removing the donated eyes and delivering them to eye surgeons. It is a race against time, for eyes cannot generally be stored. They must be removed immediately, preferably within three hours after death, and, for transplants, used within 48 hours.

The Kingston Club is a member of the Sight Conservation Society of Northeastern New York, and serves as the collection point for the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Any person desiring to donate their eyes should direct any inquiries to the Kingston Lions' Club Sight Conservation Committee.

Nuclear Sub.

Used Dummy Before

The Polaris has been test-fired many times previously but always with a dummy warhead.

The ballistic missile is one of the few pieces of ordnance ever developed by the United States and put in the hands of operating forces without having been given full-scale field tests.

Prior to Sunday, there had been no combined U.S. test of the two major components—the missile and warhead.

A complete, all-out test firing never had been made. A nuclear charge never had been fired in missile trajectory out into space, then plunged back into the heat-generating atmosphere to detonate above or on a target.

Proof testing is one purpose of the nuclear tests which began April 25 in the Pacific.

The 30 or so explosions, it is understood, will include three types of tests—proof, effect and new weapons.

The proof tests will check out nuclear weapons systems the United States has developed but never fired. The effect tests will try to learn what an enemy nuclear explosion would do to U.S. missiles, radar and underground missile sites.

Upstate Resort Area Rescinds Proposed Taxes

ELIZABETHTOWN, N.Y. (AP) —The Essex County Board of Supervisors rescinded today sales taxes that had been scheduled to go into effect July 1 in the Adirondack resort county. The vote was 14-3.

When the board adopted the tax last March, members agreed it would be dropped unless surrounding counties also levied sales taxes. Only Warren and Washington counties and the city of Plattsburgh have done so.

A group of taxpayers has been fighting against the tax here on the ground it would "disastrous" to business. There have been strong protests in the other counties, also.

The measures would levy a three per cent tax on hotel and motel bills and on restaurant checks of $1 or more, and a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales.

Anthony Tecce Jr., 21, of 17 Stickles Avenue, and Anthony Charles Kraus, 50, of Narrowsburg, who had lodged assault charges against each other after the reported uptown free-for-all, withdrew them when they appeared this morning before City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. Attorney John J. Schick appeared for Tecce.

Fighting started at Washington and Hurley Avenues, police said, after a car driven by a woman, struck a man who stood in front taking a license number. The car was driven by Ruby Kraus, 44, of RD 2, Narrowsburg. In the car, police said, was Ruby E. Vannatta, 27, of Knickerbocker Avenue, Roebling, N. J. a beautician, who was charged with third degree assault and public intoxication. She pleaded guilty in city court today and was fined $25 on the assault charge and $10 on the other. The charge against her was by Martin Blum, of Olive Bridge.

Struck and knocked to the pavement as he stood in front of the car, police said, was Joseph Blum Jr., 38, of Sheldon Hill Road, Olive Bridge, who was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum ambulance for treatment of a possible concussion. His condition was reported as apparently satisfactory today. Police said Blum was struck after the woman released a foot from the brake.

Received 2 Reports

A police report at 9:24 p. m. said headquarters had received two reports of the "free-for-all." Sgt. William Snyder with officers Kenneth Radel, Harry Short, Richard Dempsey and Frank Kennelly and an ambulance were dispatched to the area. Detectives Charles McCullough and Harold DeGraff investigated at the hospital.

Apparent trouble at the nome of Mrs. Tecce was reported shortly before 12:30 a. m. when a complaint was received of "loud and irritating" noises. Several officers and a Fatum ambulance were dispatched to the house and patrol cars covered the area. Chief Robert F. Murphy, Lt. Lemuel Howard and detectives also investigated at the house.

The two men, described as apparently young, were said to be violently abusive as they made a wild our of the house, upsetting andl damaging furniture. The report indicated they had remained in the house only a short time.

A recent report filed by Judge Inman indicated Hassett was worth $30,000. Probates proceedings before Columbia County Surrogate John J. Curran of Kinderhook will grant the estate to the 14 cousins in England, Ireland, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Rothbard, who is active in the Voice of Democracy program, said "Let us be vigilant" and be not misled by the forces trying to undermine freedom from within.

"Let us all do what Lou Schafer has done, teach our youth the right course. If we do, we will have accomplished our purpose—keeping America free and strong."

YMCA Proud

President Baltz of the YM directors said to the VFW, "We feel you have honored the YMCA in choosing Lou Schafer as Citiben of the Year and we are happy to take part in your program."

Members of the board were introduced.

Baltz said "You know YMCA workers do not get rich. Lou Schafer's choice of his work was a desire of the heart. He is doing something he wants to do . . . He's never too busy to talk with youth and help youngsters with their problems."

He was proud to point out that Schafer, who will be at the local Y 20 years next January, has taught more than 20,000 to swim, has taken part in projects to help worthy causes, and has played Santa Claus at so many functions "some of our youngsters think he really is Santa."

"He can walk down the street and say hello to more young people than anyone else."

Mrs. Schafer beamed with pride as the accolades flowed as did Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Lawrence, their son-in-law and daughter, who have presented him with a grandson, Loren Lester.

Other Recipients

Other Citizens of the Year chosen in the past who attended the dinner were Bob Browning, local newscaster recently elected to the Kingston School Board; Capt. Edward Albrecht of the Kingston Fire Department (retired); Addison Jones, businessman and prominent sports figure and Joseph Kelly, former alderman at large, who is city editor of The Freeman.

Others who have received the award are Herman Knaust, Saugerties industrialist; James M. Krom, who arranged ceremonies for return of war dead; Miss Catherine M. Murphy, former executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association; Richard M. Kalish, community leader in hospital and educational fields; and two men who have died, E. Frank Flanagen and Harry L. (Pop) Edson, a friend of veterans and leader in youth work respectively.

The citation presented by Commander Saban referred to Schafer as Citizen of the Year, a real leader in body and spirit and a shining example to our youth.

Appreciates Honor

Schafer, who said he deeply appreciated the honor conferred on him, said he enjoyed his work and said "if you have the spirit, you never get tired working to do something for people."

His mother was his first inspiration, she was a good church worker. Men working with him in the YMCA give him spirit to carry on because they are interested in the same goals he aims for. "I'm thankful for their cooperation and the encouragement they give," he said.

The invocation was offered by the Rev. John H. Fessner, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, which Mr. Schafer attends, and the benediction by the Rev. John J. Murray of St. Peter's Church, and chaplain of Joyce Schirick Post.

New Card System

mits a person to donate his or her eyes upon death by signing a pledge card with the signature of two witnesses. This change will avoid delay and save many eyes which are now lost while getting next of kin to sign a release. 57 persons have had their sight restored to date through the Kingston Lions Club.

The Sight Conservation Society acts as a clearing house, making all arrangements for removing the donated eyes and delivering them to eye surgeons. It is a race against time, for eyes cannot generally be stored. They must be removed immediately, preferably within three hours after death, and, for transplants, used within 48 hours.

The Kingston Club is a member of the Sight Conservation Society of Northeastern New York, and serves as the collection point for the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Any person desiring to donate their eyes should direct any inquiries to the Kingston Lions' Club Sight Conservation Committee.

Nuclear Sub.

Used Dummy Before

The Polaris has been test-fired many times previously but always with a dummy warhead.

The ballistic missile is one of the few pieces of ordnance ever developed by the United States and put in the hands of operating forces without having been given full-scale field tests.

Prior to Sunday, there had been no combined U.S. test of the two major components—the missile and warhead.

A complete, all-out test firing never had been made. A nuclear charge never had been fired in missile trajectory out into space, then plunged back into the heat-generating atmosphere to detonate above or on a target.

Proof testing is one purpose of the nuclear tests which began April 25 in the Pacific.

The 30 or so explosions, it is understood, will include three types of tests—proof, effect and new weapons.

The proof tests will check out nuclear weapons systems the United States has developed but never fired. The effect tests will try to learn what an enemy nuclear explosion would do to U.S. missiles, radar and underground missile sites.

Upstate Resort Area Rescinds Proposed Taxes

ELIZABETHTOWN, N.Y. (AP) —The Essex County Board of Supervisors rescinded today sales taxes that had been scheduled to go into effect July 1 in the Adirondack resort county. The vote was 14-3.

When the board adopted the tax last March, members agreed it would be dropped unless surrounding counties also levied sales taxes. Only Warren and Washington counties and the city of Plattsburgh have done so.

A group of taxpayers has been fighting against the tax here on the ground it would "disastrous" to business. There have been strong protests in the other counties, also.

The measures would levy a three per cent tax on hotel and motel bills and on restaurant checks of $1 or more, and a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales.

Card of Thanks

Through this medium we wish to thank and acknowledge all the kind acts of our many friends and neighbors and especially the Reverend R. J. Stewart and the West Hurley Fire Department, Spillway Engine Co. No. 3, during the death of the late Pasquale (Pat) Volpe.

Fire Damages 10-Room Allaben Summer Home

Fire caused extensive damage to a 10-room summer home on Route 28 at Allaben, early Sunday despite the efforts of Shandaken-Allaben and Phoenicia firemen, who battled the flames under direction of Chief Sidney Fox of the former department.

Chief Fox said a passing motorist discovered the fire and drove to the firehouse where the alarm was sounded at about 2:30 a. m.

The chief said two trucks from Phoenicia were summoned to the scene to assist, but only one pumper was used to aid the Shandaken - Allaben apparatus. The house is owned by Carmine Garcia of New York City, who spent weekends and several weeks each summer at the house, which was completely furnished but unoccupied at the time of the early morning blaze.

Chief Fox said the fire apparently started in the living room and spread up to a second floor bedroom. Terrific heat which had built up before firemen were notified blistered the walls and siding and caused extensive damage throughout the summer residence, Fox said.

The origin of the fire was not determined and no estimate of damage was available, fire officials said.

Former Patient Slays His Family, Takes Own Life

ZION, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient brought his five children home from church Sunday, slashed them and his ex-wife to death, and waited until police found the carnage, then killed himself.

Police said Rolland Bauer, 31, a factory worker and electrician, slew his former wife, Alice Jean, 26, and their three sons and two daughters by slitting their throats with a butcher knife.

Police Chief Robert Corder said he understood that Mrs. Bauer, who was divorced in April 1961, was seeing another man and had hopes of marriage.

The Rev. Clarence E. Fast, pastor of the Grace Missionary Church in Zion, said he saw Bauer and the five youngsters in church. The clergyman said Bauer had been despondent recently. The Rev. Dr. Fast said Bauer, a gun fancier, had wanted a reconciliation with his former wife, but apparently had not been successful.

The bodies of Mrs. Bauer and the children were found in the bloodied bedroom of an apartment they shared in Zion, a community of about 11,000 some 40 miles north of Chicago. The butcher knife apparently used in the slayings was found in the kitchen of the basement apartment, police said.

Bauer, who lived near his family after the divorce, died in a car parked across the street from the slaying scene. He shot himself in the head with a .357 magnum revolver as a policeman approached his car.

Deputy Corner Robert H. Babcox said it appeared that Mrs. Bauer and the youngsters had been dead three or four hours before their bodies were discovered by Bauer's brother, Richard, 34, and Edward Pincombe, Mrs. Bauer's father.

The dead children were: Rolland Jack Jr., 9; Beverly, 7; Barbara Jo, 6; Ralph J., 4, and Robbin Jay, 2½.

Primaries Slated In 5 States for Some Top Posts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters in five states make their choices in party primaries Tuesday involving two governorships, two U.S. Senate seats and 54 House posts.

Elections in Ohio, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico and West Virginia will be spiced with some old familiar political names, and some differences of opinion on how to finance medical care for the aged.

Ohio Republicans will choose between the sons of two late Ohio senators for the nomination for congressman at large. They are Robert Taft Jr., majority leader of the Ohio House and son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, and State Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess, son of the late Sen. Simeon D. Fess.

On the Democratic side in Ohio, both Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Sen. Frank J. Lausche have opposition but seem assured of renomination. DiSalle is opposed by State Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, Lausche by former labor organizer Albert T. Ball of Cleveland.

John Marshall Briley, Toledo attorney, and James A. Rhodes, former mayor of Columbus, appear to be the leaders in GOP primaries for senator and governor respectively.

Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, defeated in the 1950 Democratic primary by present incumbent Sen. George A. Smathers, has three opponents in a race for one of Florida's four new house seats. An early New Dealer, he has endorsed the Kennedy administration without reservation.

Smathers also is running, seeking his third term in the Democratic primary with Robert L. Davis and Douglas R. Voorhees. Emerson Rupert of St. Petersburg is unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.

In four of the six Democratic House primaries in Florida, the President's Social Security plan for financing health care for the aged is an issue.

Another gubernatorial contest is in New Mexico where four Democrats seek the nod to challenge Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, unopposed in his bid for a fifth-term nomination.

Indiana has only a congressional primary this year and all 11 incumbents—four Democrats and seven Republicans—appear to be safe bets for renomination.

West Virginia also chooses only congressional nominees. The only incumbents with opposition are Rep. Ken Hechler and Rep. Elizabeth Kee, both Democrats.

ATTACK ON THE COLD

A man with the snuffles and a chest cough is inclined to be rather snide about the failure of medical science to find a cure for the common cold. The irony of this, in an era of therapeutic marvels, is not lost on doctors and public health experts, either. Much research has been devoted to this problem.

Much research, but not enough. There has never been the sort of massive, concerted drive to find a cold cure that has been directed against such diseases as cancer and heart trouble. This is understandable; the great killers and cripplers naturally demand priority.

Yet the cold, though seldom fatal, takes an enormous toll in this country. Consider these figures set forth by Dr. Justin M. Andrews, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases of the National Institutes of Health: 218 million work days lost annually; 195 million school days; an economic cost of about three billion dollars annually.

It is very good news, therefore, that the U.S. Public Health Service has launched an all-out attack on the common cold. The principal goal is the development of an effective vaccine — several, probably, since there are several cold viruses.

A contract for research to develop vaccines has been awarded to one of the big drug manufacturers. Other contracts will soon be awarded to industrial research organizations, universities, medical centers and so on. The Public Health Service will spend perhaps as much as a million dollars on the program this year.

Even 10 times that amount would be a bargain rate for vaccines capable of of preventing or arresting colds. Dr. Andrews predicts this achievement within five years, perhaps sooner. It is something to look forward to with hopeful eagerness.

SONG OF THE ROAD

The song of the open road can swiftly turn into the keening of tragedy. No matter how commonplace this observation may seem, truth gives it pertinence.

We mention the matter now because this is the time of year when Americans yield—in increasing numbers as spring moves toward summer—to the urge to get out and drive somewhere. There is pleasure, but also hazard, in responding to that urge.

The more people respond, the greater the hazard. Every danger of highway driving is heightened a bit by each additional car on the road.

This is not a plea to stay home and thus evade danger. It is, rather, a reminder of the grave responsibility that rests upon every driver. One aspect of this responsibility is to forestall trouble by keeping one's car in top mechanical shape. Another is the obligation of each driver to keep a steady hand at the wheel with a clear eye on the road. Neither this nor anything else can guarantee against accident, but it boosts the chances that the song of the open road will be joyous.

Life after 50 wouldn't be so bad if more people realized that your age is your own business.

TWO-MILE MONSTER

For a short time, it appeared that the silly season had begun in earnest. The news story had all the earmarks of the sort of yarn one expects once the silly season arrives; it told of a sea monster southwest of Bermuda, and not merely another ordinary monster but one two miles long.

It was something of a disappointment to find, in reading on, that the huge creature was really a length of six-inch-thick hawser. Where it came from was a mystery. Where it was going also was a mystery. But there was no mystery about its threat to ships, which were warned to give it a five-mile berth to avoid entanglement.

One last mundane item. This "sea monster," at $1.55 a pound, was worth a tidy $12,000 to anyone who could salvage it. A monster with salvage value! We prefer stories about the kind with 14 undulations and a head the size of an oil barrel.

REPUBLICAN POLITICS

The Republicans need to win both California and New York in the next Congressional election. Otherwise they cannot make much of a dent in the Democratic control of both the Administration and Congress.

In California, Richard Nixon is leading his party's ticket, running for Governor. He is encountering strong resistance on the part of ultra-conservatives who are unusually strong in California. Most of them normally vote Republican. Politicians might have assumed, in their calculations, that their votes would go to Nixon. However, the former Vice President has rejected them and they have resented this attitude. On the other hand, the supporters of the Kennedy Administration and other Liberals prefer Pat Brown, the Democratic Governor.

The curious fact is that, at the beginning of the present campaign, it was taken as a certainty that Nixon would be elected and that Brown would be defeated. The tables now seem to be reversed, but the Republicans are still fighting.

In New York, the Republicans hope to re-elect Governor Rockefeller, Senator Javits and a large number of Representatives. Governor Nelson Rockefeller has had his ups and downs in popularity. At the present moment, he is considerably down, not only because of his divorce, which has hurt him politically despite all denials, but also because he seems to be without a program and gives the image of being frightened. Whereas New Yorkers are accustomed to divorces and to the ugly publicity which accompanies such events, they are not accustomed to their politicians doing it.

Rockefeller's fortunes depend upon whom the Democrats nominate to oppose him. The vote of Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Cubans and other former Latin Americans counts for much in New York State. These votes are likely to be Democratic this year, although, if Senator Eastland continues to hold up the confirmation of Thurgood Marshall as a Judge of the United States Court, there may be sufficient resentment to cause damage. Thurgood Marshall is a Negro of significance in these parts.

On the other hand, the large blocs of minority nationality votes are likely to go Republican in the 1962 Election. Senator Jacob Javits must be expected to appeal to such elements. Senator Javits is a formidable campaigner. His career has been an outgrowth of what New Yorkers like to call "the sidewalks of New York" — the attitudes which brought political strength to Al Smith, for example.

In recent years, however, Senator Javits has lost the common touch to a degree. Mrs. Javits, who is socially popular, writes a column, "The Senator's Wire," which does not deal with the homely virtues of the masses, but with parties and fancy food and great names in the fashion of Elsa Maxwell. How much good such a column will do the Senator in a campaign in which he must boast that he is of "the sidewalks of New York," depends upon who opposes him.

There was a time when a man like Chauncey Depew, President of the New York Central Railroad, could be elected a United States Senator. However, that was long ago, when the Anglo-Saxon vote prevailed in these parts and when wealth was respectable.

Large numbers of Republicans will not vote for Senator Javits under any circumstances. They may not vote at all, if the Democrats were to put such a person as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., on their ticket. On the other hand, should the Democrats nominate, either for Governor or Senator, a candidate acceptable to up-state Democrats, the Liberal Party in New York City and the Negro voters, he will run away with the Election.

The Conservative Party is newly organized and not formidable. However, it is likely to draw votes from Rockefeller and Javits. This will be a protest vote and one of its purposes will be to indicate to the Kennedys that there is a Conservative trend in the country.

There is a Conservative temper abroad in the land and it expresses itself in diverse ways. The 1962 Election may provide, for voters who cannot go along with either the Republicans or Democrats, another road to follow.

Among the new Connservatives there is a difference of opinion as to whether they should go it alone or seek to capture the Republican Party. They can only succeed in capturing the Republican Party if Rockefeller and Javits are defeated. That therefore will be their aim.

Eye Care Vital to Child's Intellectual Development

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometimes children do poorly in school because of an unrecognized visual defect. It is vitally important to give our youngsters a full opportunity to develop to the limits of their capacities. Hence, here are some pointers about eyes and eye care that may prove helpful to you and your children.

Particularly during the first three months of pregnancy, protect yourself from exposure to X-rays and to infectious diseases. While emphasis has been placed on the harmful effects of German measles on the developing child (embryo), other infections also may produce serious damage. Among these are regular measles (rubella) virus influenza and perhaps mumps. You may obtain protective immunization with measles, mumps and virus influenza vaccines. But, you can only protect yourself against German measles (roseola) by recovery from an attack before pregnancy.

When you first look at your baby's eyes, don't be upset if they appear red and gummy. The law requires that they be protected by instillation of eye drops immediately after birth, and some eye drops may irritate.

Don't object to the extra expense involved for consultation with an eye specialist (ophthalmologist) or a pediatrist if your child is premature and requires oxygen. For, too little oxygen may cost your child his best chance for complete recovery. Too much oxygen may cause visual impairment if not total blindness (retrolental fibroplasia).

Don't worry if your baby's eyes turn a bit in (cross-eyes) or out (wall-eyes) for the first six months or so. It takes a bit of time for the 12 eye muscles (six in each set) to get working in harmony. If, however, they continue to be out of whack after six months, don't delay your visit to an ophthalmologist.

Especially if your child has been given oxygen, test his visual response to a stimulus such as the blinking of a flashlight or the sight of the bottle. If you're not completely sure of the response, seek consultation at a time when treatment holds greatest promise.

If your school-age child complains of headache or difficulty in seeing the blackboard or in reading; if he has to practically put his nose on the book he's studying; if he stumbles in the dark or reacts unfavorably to bright light, whether artificial or from sun; or if his eyes are red, crusted or teary, better have him tested and, if necessary, supply him with corrective glasses according to prescription.

Don't have it on your conscience that a child of yours got off to a bad educational start because you were negligent. Or because you practiced what you thought was economy.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The regular spring meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign and defense ministers May 6-8—which will be attended by Secretaries Dean Rusk and Robert S. McNamara for the United States—is expected to produce no great new decisions and few, if any, fireworks. But even a routine NATO meeting in Athens has some significance for the West.

LAST AUGUST, RUSSIAN CHAIRMAN Nikita Khrushchev delivered one of his periodic bully-boy speeches against the small nations of the Mediterranean in NATO. Specifically, he threatened to destroy the Acropolis.

The reply from Greek Prime Minister Constantin Karamanlis was that Khrushchev could never destroy the ideal of the sacred rock—the freedom and independance of the Greek people.

At the other end of the 4,000-mile NATO line in Europe similar threats from Khrushchev were answered by Norway with statements that this little country joined NATO to contribute to the peace of Europe as well as its own stability, and was staying in.

From 12 to 15 years ago the No. 1 worry in Europe was what month war might break out. Today the question is no longer asked. In the last 10 years there has been an economic explosion in Europe and the saying is that money never built anything that had no expectation of being enjoyed.

That is something for the Warsaw Pact countries to contemplate as they look at their own run-down economies.

NATO STILL HAS ITS PROBLEMS in the Berlin situation, and in the question of whether the alliance should have its own nuclear striking force and if so, how it shall be organized and controlled.

There is general NATO acceptance and trust in Secretary of State Dean Rusk's conferences on the Berlin question with Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in Washington.

The Russians have built their wall around East Berlin, not as a line of defense but to further enslave the East German people. Russian fighter planes buzz Western supply planes flying the corridors to West Berlin. In spite of this, the number of Western flights and the tonnage delivered to West Berlin have increased steadily.

There has been no mass emigration of West Berliners in panic. On the contrary, there is a drive to build up the industrial capacity of West Berlin and make it stronger.

NATO DOES NOT HAVE some of the problems it had a year or even six months ago.

● The Congo crisis has been reduced from civil war to relative peace through difficult negotiation.

● The Algerian crisis has been reduced from a seven-year national war to localized violence which in due time should be completely eliminated. When the French secret army is finally liquidated, French forces will be released for duty in Europe and NATO's strength will be materially increased.

● By the end of this year NATO's supreme commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, expects to have- 30-day-ready, full strength divisions in place of the 21 skeleton divisions—really only 15 divisions—which he had a year ago.

THE QUESTION OF NATO's NUCLEAR CAPABILITY, about which there is considerable misunderstanding, will probably be the most important item on the Athens agenda, but no solution is expected.

It is not a military problem, for NATO already has ample nuclear striking power available from the United States. The power is centered here by American atomic law which places responsibility for its use in the hands of the President.

There is no question of delegating this power to NATO or to individual countries like Germany or France or Italy, the British already having their own nuclear capability. The United States has no blueprint for a new nuclear alliance.

The creation of such an alliance is something that the Europeans themselves must work out and agree on. So far they have had conflicting views. Until they are resolved, there can be no NATO nuclear force.

THE UNITED STATES IS URGING that European governments build up their defensive forces by purchase of American arms. The real purpose here is to improve the U. S. balance of payments position by recovering some of the money spent to maintain 350,000 American troops in Europe.

But the United States is not selling to Europe any materials that would lead to a build-up of nuclear capability by NATO or any European country.

Supreme Court Decisions On Literacy Tests Cited

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy wrote in a letter the other day to the Herald Tribune that the bill before Congress, which seeks to fix a sixth-grade education as enough to satisfy literacy requirements, isn't an invasion of the right of the states "to set voting standards." He says that the proposed law is aimed at and "limited to the use of discretionary tests capable of manipulation by registration officials."

This is a surprising statement and one that has added considerable fuel to the fires burning on Capitol Hill as Senator after Senator opposed to the bill points to decisions of the Supreme Court which declare that the Constitution gives to the states alone the power to set voter qualifications.

Mr. Kennedy argues that as proof of literacy a state can determine to fix eight or twelve years of school or four years of college and that these would be "objective standards and qualifications which would not be affected in any way by this bill."

What the Attorney General contends really is that the Federal government has the right to pass judgment on the extent to which literacy tests as such can be applied. He insists that as a substitute for the tests Congress can flatly set a sixth-grade education as a standard and the states would have to give up their literacy tests and accept this as a qualification for voting.

But although the head of the Department of Justice says it is all right for the states to use any particular grade in school as the basis for their requirements on literacy, he doesn't give any inkling as to where in the Constitution he finds any authority for Congress to take away from the states their right to determine in their own way what literacy is or is not.

Senators Willis Robertson of Virginia, Sam Ervin of North Carolina, and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Democrats, have cited in speeches to the Senate in the last few days decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in which a judgement was expressed directly contrary to that of Attorney General Kennedy.

North Carolina Case

The Virginia Senator, for instance, called attention to a case decided by the Supreme Court of the United States as recently as June 8, 1959, known as Lassiter v. Northhampton County Board of Elections. It upheld a North Carolina literacy test. Justice Douglas, in speaking for a unanimous court said:

"The states have long been held to have broad powers to determine the conditions under which the right of suffrage may be exercised. . . .

"The present requirement, applicable to members of all races, is that the prospective voter 'be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language.' That seems to us to be one fair way of determining whether a person is literate, not a calculated scheme to lay springes for the citizen. Certainly we cannot condemn it on its face as a device unrelated to the desire of North Carolina to raise the standards for people of all races who cast the ballot."

Justice Douglas quoted with approval the court's opinion in the case of Quinn vs. United States, which had said:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Where the Federal government, through the Department of Justice, can step in, of course, is to see that the literacy test is fairly applied irrespective of race or color. This means a lawsuit in any case of alleged discrimination. A particular "literacy" test law may be "unconstitutional on its face," as Justice Douglas says, but the proper place to determine this is in the courts—not in Congress.

Law for Every Abuse

No law of Congress, therefore, can constitutionally declare that, because a literacy test might possibly be a form of abuse, it should be prohibited altogether and that completion of a certain grade of school shall be accepted as a substitute for a test. If every time an abuse occurs in any right exercised constitutionally by a state, a law then can be passed by Congress fixing its own "standard" as a preventive measure, then all rights of the states under the Constitution can be taken away overnight.

Justice Douglas, for instance, in the unanimous Supreme Court opinion in the North Carolina case quoted above says: "Literacy and intelligence are obviously not synonymous. Illiterate people may be intelligent voters."

Will some Attorney General in the future argue that Congress could pass a law setting standards of "intelligence"? Maybe a Republican or a Democratic majority in Congress would be encouraged to enact a law declaring that the standard of "intelligence" is satisfied by the would-be voter's expression of preference for a particular party in a given year.

The crux of the issue is not whether discrimination in determining the eligibility of a voter shall be prevented or punished but how the right to vote shall be protected. If it is desirable to fix a standard of "literacy" and to take the power away from the states, this can be done not by law by Congress but only by adopting a Constitutional amendment that has to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PECOS, TEX., May 6—The reporter who actually broke the Billie Sol Estes story, a Democratic political scandal comparable to Teapot Dome and not yet fully developed, is Oscar Griffin, the editor of The Pecos Independent and Enterprise, which comes out on Mondays and Thursdays. He is 28 years old and married. The paper is right wing and there is nasty feeling between the typical Texas Democrats of the Lyndon Johnson machine and those who call themselves conservatives.

The owners of the Independent and Enterprise are Dr. Harlow F. Avery, a physician from Belmont, Mass.; Charles R. Sullivan, a dentist, and Alan Propp, an accountant. The three owners and Griffin are conservatives. Dr. Avery told me he had suffered slights and loss of friendship and even some loss of practice because of the political animosity. The conservatives include an unknown number of registered Democrats and a small minority of professing Republicans. The conservative Democrats are also called Goldwater Democrats.

Dr. Avery said one patient, a woman, told him that another woman had told her that she was quitting him after some years in his practice. The woman who brought him this word said she then put it to the other woman: "Did you go to Dr. Avery because you liked his politics or because you wanted a good doctor?"

The fantaastic rise of Billie Sol Estes, a half-educated sanctimonious adventurer of 37, was so startling that "talk" inevitably began. Then Estes complicated his own situation by swinging his weight around as a fellow who would call up Vice President Johnson, even President Kennedy, whenever he felt like it. He is a genuine hick from a side spot in a side road called Clyde. But he undoubtedly did have a foot in Johnson's door and Kennedy did send a fulsome telegram to greet Billie Sol's new daily paper, the News, probably at Johnson's request, when it broke into print last August.

As the "talk" became more and more general in the little stringtown of Pecos out on the God-forsaken Western prairies, Griffin, Dr. Avery and Propp, the accountant with his black-box brain for figures, decided to examine the records in the Reeves County courthouse, a half-block away. The first strike of Griffin's pick hit big pay-dirt. There were chattel mortgages on file covering 16,000 steel tanks mounted the long way on small pneumatic tires which had a list price of $1,000 each. They are used, when they are used at all, to convey ammonia to the cotton rows, which thus are stimulated to produce twice their normal yield. But most of the tanks did not exist.

Incidentally, under the mad federal allotment system, a farmer gets permission from the Department of Agriculture to plant a certain number of acres and then doubles the output by stimulation with ammonia. The economy, meaning the individual taxpayer, has to pay the deficit.

It soon became apparent from Billie Sol's vanity that he had "connections" with the Department of Agriculture whence lavish blessings flow. In fact, Dr. James T. Ralph, then the Assistant Secretary under Secretary Orville Freeman, wrote a ridiculous letter to Billie Sol's paper at the time of the Kennedy and Johnson telegrams, on official stationery, bearing the department seal. Ralph lectured on the "economic, cultural and social well-being of a region" served by a first-class newspaper. It was none of his official business to welcome a blatter of unknown characters into competition with the conservative and morally respectable Independent and Enterprise whose owners paid their fair share of his abundant salary.

Anyway, after Oscar Griffin had mined out of the county records the chattel mortgages on 16,000 tanks, he and the owners decided to get the professional help of an abstract company. This done, they began to learn of similar mortgages on other thousands of tanks in other cotton counties, many of which are not thus far known to exist at all. And of colossal favors to Billie Sol by the Department of Agriculture, granting him authority to provide bin or "elevator" storage for millions of bushels of wheat and sorghum, and to receive government checks for this storage, at a bond-rate of 2 cents a bushel whereas other storage firms were paying up to 12 cents a bushel for their bonds.

Oscar Griffin's first story ran last Feb. 12, less than a month after Estes and his pretty wife had flown to Washington for the President's first anniversary ball. He bought two tables for this at $1,000 each and blabbed his social conquest and political connections all over a whole page of publicity, which was the sillier when Griffin fired the first barrel. Griffin wrote that Reeves County must be the ammonia tank capital of the world. There should have been 17 miles of tanks.

One farmer told Griffin he had signed articles to buy 450 tanks for $450,000 to fertilize 850 acres. Instead of paying a cash deposit on each tank, the "purchaser" got from Estes a cash payment of 10 per cent of the total price. That was the farmer's inducement to lend himself to the trick. Thereafter, it is charged, Estes went to finance companies and sold them chattel mortgages on non-existent tanks, and Estes leased the fictitious tanks back from the farmers for a sum equal to the farmers' monthly installments on the chattel mortgages. Finally, it is charged, the finance companies got suspicious and discovered that field hands were roving the fields altering identification plates on the few tanks that did exist to make them look like thousands.

At the present moment, he is considerably down, not only because of his divorce, which has hurt him politically despite all denials, but also because he seems to be without a program and gives the image of being frightened. Whereas New Yorkers are accustomed to divorces and to the ugly publicity which accompanies such events, they are not accustomed to their politicians doing it.

Rockefeller's fortunes depend upon whom the Democrats nominate to oppose him. The vote of Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Cubans and other former Latin Americans counts for much in New York State. These votes are likely to be Democratic this year, although, if Senator Eastland continues to hold up the confirmation of Thurgood Marshall as a Judge of the United States Court, there may be sufficient resentment to cause damage. Thurgood Marshall is a Negro of significance in these parts.

On the other hand, the large blocs of minority nationality votes are likely to go Republican in the 1962 Election. Senator Jacob Javits must be expected to appeal to such elements. Senator Javits is a formidable campaigner. His career has been an outgrowth of what New Yorkers like to call "the sidewalks of New York" — the attitudes which brought political strength to Al Smith, for example.

In recent years, however, Senator Javits has lost the common touch to a degree. Mrs. Javits, who is socially popular, writes a column, "The Senator's Wife," which does not deal with the homely virtues of the masses, but with parties and fancy food and great names in the fashion of Elsa Maxwell. How much good such a column will do the Senator in a campaign in which he must boast that he is of "the sidewalks of New York," depends upon who opposes him.

There was a time when a man like Chauncey Depew, President of the New York Central Railroad, could be elected a United States Senator. However, that was long ago, when the Anglo-Saxon vote prevailed in these parts and when wealth was respectable.

Large numbers of Republicans will not vote for Senator Javits under any circumstances. They may not vote at all, if the Democrats were to put such a person as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., on their ticket. On the other hand, should the Democrats nominate, either for Governor or Senator, a candidate acceptable to up-state Democrats, the Liberal Party in New York City and the Negro voters, he will run away with the Election.

The Conservative Party is newly organized and not formidable. However, it is likely to draw votes from Rockefeller and Javits. This will be a protest vote and one of its purposes will be to indicate to the Kennedys that there is a Conservative trend in the country.

There is a Conservative temper abroad in the land and it expresses itself in diverse ways. The 1962 Election may provide, for voters who cannot go along with either the Republicans or Democrats, another road to follow.

Among the new Connservatives there is a difference of opinion as to whether they should go it alone or seek to capture the Republican Party. They can only succeed in capturing the Republican Party if Rockefeller and Javits are defeated. That therefore will be their aim.

Eye Care Vital to Child's Intellectual Development

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometimes children do poorly in school because of an unrecognized visual defect. It is vitally important to give our youngsters a full opportunity to develop to the limits of their capacities. Hence, here are some pointers about eyes and eye care that may prove helpful to you and your children.

Particularly during the first three months of pregnancy, protect yourself from exposure to X-rays and to infectious diseases. While emphasis has been placed on the harmful effects of German measles on the developing child (embryo), other infections also may produce serious damage. Among these are regular measles (rubella) virus influenza and perhaps mumps. You may obtain protective immunization with measles, mumps and virus influenza vaccines. But, you can only protect yourself against German measles (roseola) by recovery from an attack before pregnancy.

When you first look at your baby's eyes, don't be upset if they appear red and gummy. The law requires that they be protected by instillation of eye drops immediately after birth, and some eye drops may irritate.

Don't object to the extra expense involved for consultation with an eye specialist (ophthalmologist) or a pediatrist if your child is premature and requires oxygen. For, too little oxygen may cost your child his best chance for complete recovery. Too much oxygen may cause visual impairment if not total blindness (retrolental fibroplasia).

Don't worry if your baby's eyes turn a bit in (cross-eyes) or out (wall-eyes) for the first six months or so. It takes a bit of time for the 12 eye muscles (six in each set) to get working in harmony. If, however, they continue to be out of whack after six months, don't delay your visit to an ophthalmologist.

Especially if your child has been given oxygen, test his visual response to a stimulus such as the blinking of a flashlight or the sight of the bottle. If you're not completely sure of the response, seek consultation at a time when treatment holds greatest promise.

If your school-age child complains of headache or difficulty in seeing the blackboard or in reading; if he has to practically put his nose on the book he's studying; if he stumbles in the dark or reacts unfavorably to bright light, whether artificial or from sun; or if his eyes are red, crusted or teary, better have him tested and, if necessary, supply him with corrective glasses according to prescription.

Don't have it on your conscience that a child of yours got off to a bad educational start because you were negligent. Or because you practiced what you thought was economy.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The regular spring meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign and defense ministers May 6-8—which will be attended by Secretaries Dean Rusk and Robert S. McNamara for the United States—is expected to produce no great new decisions and few, if any, fireworks. But even a routine NATO meeting in Athens has some significance for the West.

LAST AUGUST, RUSSIAN CHAIRMAN Nikita Khrushchev delivered one of his periodic bully-boy speeches against the small nations of the Mediterranean in NATO. Specifically, he threatened to destroy the Acropolis.

The reply from Greek Prime Minister Constantin Karamanlis was that Khrushchev could never destroy the ideal of the sacred rock—the freedom and independance of the Greek people.

At the other end of the 4,000-mile NATO line in Europe similar threats from Khrushchev were answered by Norway with statements that this little country joined NATO to contribute to the peace of Europe as well as its own stability, and was staying in.

From 12 to 15 years ago the No. 1 worry in Europe was what month war might break out. Today the question is no longer asked. In the last 10 years there has been an economic explosion in Europe and the saying is that money never built anything that had no expectation of being enjoyed.

That is something for the Warsaw Pact countries to contemplate as they look at their own run-down economies.

NATO STILL HAS ITS PROBLEMS in the Berlin situation, and in the question of whether the alliance should have its own nuclear striking force and if so, how it shall be organized and controlled.

There is general NATO acceptance and trust in Secretary of State Dean Rusk's conferences on the Berlin question with Russian Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in Washington.

The Russians have built their wall around East Berlin, not as a line of defense but to further enslave the East German people. Russian fighter planes buzz Western supply planes flying the corridors to West Berlin. In spite of this, the number of Western flights and the tonnage delivered to West Berlin have increased steadily.

There has been no mass emigration of West Berliners in panic. On the contrary, there is a drive to build up the industrial capacity of West Berlin and make it stronger.

NATO DOES NOT HAVE some of the problems it had a year or even six months ago.

- The Congo crisis has been reduced from civil war to relative peace through difficult negotiation.
- The Algerian crisis has been reduced from a seven-year national war to localized violence which in due time should be completely eliminated. When the French secret army is finally liquidated, French forces will be released for duty in Europe and NATO's strength will be materially increased.
- By the end of this year NATO's supreme commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, expects to have 30-day-ready, full strength divisions in place of the 21 skeleton divisions—really only 15 divisions—which he had a year ago.

THE QUESTION OF NATO's NUCLEAR CAPABILITY, about which there is considerable misunderstanding, will probably be the most important item on the Athens agenda, but no solution is expected.

It is not a military problem, for NATO already has ample nuclear striking power available from the United States. The power is centered here by American atomic law which places responsibility for its use in the hands of the President.

There is no question of delegating this power to NATO or to individual countries like Germany or France or Italy, the British already having their own nuclear capability. The United States has no blueprint for a new nuclear alliance.

The creation of such an alliance is something that the Europeans themselves must work out and agree on. So far they have had conflicting views. Until they are resolved, there can be no NATO nuclear force.

THE UNITED STATES IS URGING that European governments build up their defensive forces by purchase of American arms. The real purpose here is to improve the U. S. balance of payments position by recovering some of the money spent to maintain 350,000 American troops in Europe.

But the United States is not selling to Europe any materials that would lead to a build-up of nuclear capability by NATO or any European country.

Supreme Court Decisions On Literacy Tests Cited

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Kennedy wrote in a letter the other day to the Herald Tribune that the bill before Congress, which seeks to fix a sixth-grade education as enough to satisfy literacy requirements, isn't an invasion of the right of the states "to set voting standards." He says that the proposed law is aimed at and "limited to the use of discretionary tests capable of manipulation by registration officials."

This is a surprising statement and one that has added considerable fuel to the fires burning on Capitol Hill as Senator opposed to the bill points to decisions of the Supreme Court which declare that the Constitution gives to the states alone the power to set voter qualifications.

Mr. Kennedy argues that as proof of literacy a state can determine to fix eight or twelve years of school or four years of college and that these would be "objective standards and qualifications which would not be affected in any way by this bill."

What the Attorney General contends really is that the Federal government has the right to pass judgment on the extent to which literacy tests as such can be applied. He insists that as a substitute for the tests Congress can flatly set a sixth-grade education as a standard and the states would have to give up their literacy tests and accept this as a qualification for voting.

But although the head of the Department of Justice says it is all right for the states to use any particular grade in school as the basis for their requirements on literacy, he doesn't give any inkling as to where in the Constitution he finds any authority for Congress to take away from the states their right to determine in their own way what literacy is or is not.

Senators Willis Robertson of Virginia, Sam Ervin of North Carolina, and Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Democrats, have cited in speeches to the Senate in the last few days decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in which a judgement was expressed directly contrary to that of Attorney General Kennedy.

North Carolina Case

The Virginia Senator, for instance, called attention to a case decided by the Supreme Court of the United States as recently as June 8, 1959, known as Lassiter v. Northhampton County Board of Elections. It upheld a North Carolina literacy test. Justice Douglas, in speaking for a unanimous court said:

"The states have long been held to have broad powers to determine the conditions under which the right of suffrage may be exercised. . . .

"The present requirement, applicable to members of all races, is that the prospective voter 'be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language.' That seems to us to be one fair way of determining whether a person is literate, not a calculated scheme to lay springes for the citizen. Certainly we cannot condemn it on its face as a device unrelated to the desire of North Carolina to raise the standards for people of all races who cast the ballot."

Justice Douglas quoted with approval the court's opinion in the case of Quinn vs. United States, which had said:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Where the Federal government, through the Department of Justice, can step in, of course, is to see that the literacy test is fairly applied irrespective of race or color. This means a lawsuit in any case of alleged discrimination. A particular "literacy" test law may be "unconstitutional on its face," as Justice Douglas says, but the proper place to determine this is in the courts—not in Congress.

Law for Every Abuse

No law of Congress, therefore, can constitutionally declare that, because a literacy test might possibly be a form of abuse, it should be prohibited altogether and that completion of a certain grade of school shall be accepted as a substitute for a test. If every time an abuse occurs in any right exercised constitutionally by a state, a law then can be passed by Congress fixing its own "standard" as a preventive measure, then all rights of the states under the Constitution can be taken away overnight.

Justice Douglas, for instance, in the unanimous Supreme Court opinion in the North Carolina case quoted above says: "Literacy and intelligence are obviously not synonymous. Illiterate people may be intelligent voters."

Will some Attorney General in the future argue that Congress could pass a law setting standards of "intelligence"? Maybe a Republican or a Democratic majority in Congress would be encouraged to enact a law declaring that the standard of "intelligence" is satisfied by the would-be voter's expression of preference for a particular party in a given year.

The crux of the issue is not whether discrimination in determining the eligibility of a voter shall be prevented or punished but how the right to vote shall be protected. If it is desirable to fix a standard of "literacy" and to take the power away from the states, this can be done not by law by Congress but only by adopting a Constitutional amendment that has to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PECOS, TEX., May 6—The reporter who actually broke the Billie Sol Estes story, a Democratic political scandal comparable to Teapot Dome and not yet fully developed, is Oscar Griffin, the editor of The Pecos Independent and Enterprise, which comes out on Mondays and Thursdays. He is 28 years old and married. The paper is right wing and there is nasty feeling between the typical Texas Democrats of the Lyndon Johnson machine and those who call themselves conservatives.

The owners of the Independent and Enterprise are Dr. Harlow F. Avery, a physician from Belmont, Mass.; Charles R. Sullivan, a dentist, and Alan Propp, an accountant. The three owners and Griffin are conservatives. Dr. Avery told me he had suffered slights and loss of friendship and even some loss of practice because of the political animosity. The conservatives include an unknown number of registered Democrats and a small minority of professing Republicans. The conservative Democrats are also called Goldwater Democrats.

Dr. Avery said one patient, a woman, told him that another woman had told her that she was quitting him after some years in his practice. The woman who brought him this word said she then put it to the other woman: "Did you go to Dr. Avery because you liked his politics or because you wanted a good doctor?"

The fantaastic rise of Billie Sol Estes, a half-educated sanctimonious adventurer of 37, was so startling that "talk" inevitably began. Then Estes complicated his own situation by swinging his weight around as a fellow who would call up Vice President Johnson, even President Kennedy, whenever he felt like it. He is a genuine hick from a side spot in a side road called Clyde. But he undoubtedly did have a foot in Johnson's door and Kennedy did send a fulsome telegram to greet Billie Sol's new daily paper, the News, probably at Johnson's request, when it broke into print last August.

As the "talk" became more and more general in the little stringtown of Pecos out on the God-forsaken Western prairies, Griffin, Dr. Avery and Propp, the accountant with his black-box brain for figures, decided to examine the records in the Reeves County courthouse, a half-block away. The first strike of Griffin's pick hit big pay-dirt. There were chattel mortgages on file covering 16,000 steel tanks mounted the long way on small pneumatic tires which had a list price of $1,000 each. They are used, when they are used at all, to convey ammonia to the cotton rows, which thus are stimulated to produce twice their normal yield. But most of the tanks did not exist.

Incidentally, under the mad federal allotment system, a farmer gets permission from the Department of Agriculture to plant a certain number of acres and then doubles the output by stimulation with ammonia. The economy, meaning the individual taxpayer, has to pay the deficit.

It soon became apparent from Billie Sol's vanity that he had "connections" with the Department of Agriculture whence lavish blessings flow. In fact, Dr. James T. Ralph, then the Assistant Secretary under Secretary Orville Freeman, wrote a ridiculous letter to Billie Sol's paper at the time of the Kennedy and Johnson telegrams, on official stationery, bearing the department seal. Ralph lectured on the "economic, cultural and social well-being of a region" served by a first-class newspaper. It was none of his official business to welcome a blatter of unknown characters into competition with the conservative and morally respectable Independent and Enterprise whose owners paid their fair share of his abundant salary.

Anyway, after Oscar Griffin had mined out of the county records the chattel mortgages on 16,000 tanks, he and the owners decided to get the professional help of an abstract company. This done, they began to learn of similar mortgages on other thousands of tanks in other cotton counties, many of which are not thus far known to exist at all. And of colossal favors to Billie Sol by the Department of Agriculture, granting him authority to provide bin or "elevator" storage for millions of bushels of wheat and sorghum, and to receive government checks for this storage, at a bond-rate of 2 cents a bushel whereas other storage firms were paying up to 12 cents a bushel for their bonds.

Oscar Griffin's first story ran last Feb. 12, less than a month after Estes and his pretty wife had flown to Washington for the President's first anniversary ball. He bought two tables for this at $1,000 each and blabbed his social conquest and political connections all over a whole page of publicity, which was the sillier when Griffin fired the first barrel. Griffin wrote that Reeves County must be the ammonia tank capital of the world. There should have been 17 miles of tanks.

One farmer told Griffin he had signed articles to buy 450 tanks for $450,000 to fertilize 850 acres. Instead of paying a cash deposit on each tank, the "purchaser" got from Estes a cash payment of 10 per cent of the total price. That was the farmer's inducement to lend himself to the trick. Thereafter, it is charged, Estes went to finance companies and sold them chattel mortgages on non-existent tanks, and Estes leased the fictitious tanks back from the farmers for a sum equal to the farmers' monthly installments on the chattel mortgages. Finally, it is charged, the finance companies got suspicious and discovered that field hands were roving the fields altering identification plates on the few tanks that did exist to make them look like thousands.

Stratton Claims Ulster as 11th County With Him

SCHOHARIE, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a Schenectady Democrat seeking his party's gubernatorial nomination, had the support today of William Kelly, Ulster County Democratic chairman.

Kelly, of Kingston, told the Jackson Day dinner of the Schoharie County Democratic Committee Saturday that he "enthusiastically" endorsed Stratton and that he expected the Ulster County committee also to give the congressman a "resounding endorsement."

A Stratton spokesman claimed Ulster as the eleventh county to pledge support of Stratton's candidacy and the first in the lower Hudson Valley.

Stratton, who also spoke at the Schoharie County dinner, said that, unless the Democratic candidate for governor had established himself as "an independent political personality capable of winning elections in his own right," he would be unable to defeat Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller is seeking a second four-year term.

500 Bakers on Strike In Buffalo Over Jobs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Four major bakeries here were idle today after a strike by 500 bakery workers but no serious shortage of bread was expected.

The workers, members of local 429 of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union, struck Saturday night after a breakdown in contract negotiations. The union said the issues were job security and working conditions.

About 600 other bakery workers, members of two other BCWU locals, are still working. They are employed by bakeries for the large chain grocery markets.

The struck plants are the Continental Baking Co., National Biscuit Co., Interstate Bakers Corp., and the General Baking Co. Industry sources said the four bakeries produce about 50 percent of the bread made in the area.

The contract between the striking local and the bakeries expired April 30.

Stratton Claims Ulster as 11th County With Him

SCHOHARIE, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a Schenectady Democrat seeking his party's gubernatorial nomination, had the support today of William Kelly, Ulster County Democratic chairman.

Kelly, of Kingston, told the Jackson Day dinner of the Schoharie County Democratic Committee Saturday that he "enthusiastically" endorsed Stratton and that he expected the Ulster County committee also to give the congressman a "resounding endorsement."

A Stratton spokesman claimed Ulster as the eleventh county to pledge support of Stratton's candidacy and the first in the lower Hudson Valley.

Stratton, who also spoke at the Schoharie County dinner, said that, unless the Democratic candidate for governor had established himself as "an independent political personality capable of winning elections in his own right," he would be unable to defeat Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller is seeking a second four-year term.

500 Bakers on Strike In Buffalo Over Jobs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Four major bakeries here were idle today after a strike by 500 bakery workers but no serious shortage of bread was expected.

The workers, members of local 429 of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union, struck Saturday night after a breakdown in contract negotiations. The union said the issues were job security and working conditions.

About 600 other bakery workers, members of two other BCWU locals, are still working. They are employed by bakeries for the large chain grocery markets.

The struck plants are the Continental Baking Co., National Biscuit Co., Interstate Bakers Corp., and the General Baking Co. Industry sources said the four bakeries produce about 50 percent of the bread made in the area.

The contract between the striking local and the bakeries expired April 30.

60-Year History of Nurses' Society Shows

not only obedience on the part of children, but also the obligation on the part of parents to care for the physical, moral and religious upbringing of the child.

"Many factors enter into the molding of successful citizens of today. Many factors enter into the creation of anti-social denizens of society. To cite a few:

"1. Religious non-observance. Many children do not have a definite contact with organized religion from the class of school on Friday until the opening on Monday.

"2. False ideals. Many teenagers tend to imitate the lives of those who are proficient in the field of entertainment, but how often do they have feet of clay!

"3. Addiction to alcohol and drugs. America today has the concept that in order to become addicted to either drugs or alcohol requires considerable money and advanced age. Despite this opinion, many of our youth are becoming slaves to both because of the availability of these commodities.

"We, as citizens, of a great culture and heritage can put into operation the greatest force for the salvation of the youth of America. This force can be summed up in two words — good example.

History of Association

Mrs. Stewart's history of the Alumnae Association follows:

Sixty years ago on April 12 Miss M. A. C. Moore, superintendent of the City of Kingston Hospital called a meeting of graduate nurses to organize our Alumnae Association. There were seven charter members.

In 1904 the question of registering our school was discussed and through the efforts of Miss Moore, our school was recognized by the State Regents and affiliation at Bellevue Hospital School of Nursing, New York City was approved. I believe Miss Moore was a Bellevue graduate.

Applications Continue

Affiliation in larger schools has continued since 1904, namely—Bellevue, Fordham, Ellis Hospital, Schenectady, Yale in New Haven, Conn., and Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

At present and since 1957 our students have pediatric affiliation at Children's Hospital, Buffalo. The affiliation offers a greater daily census and therefore more experience. It is also a research center and students become acquainted and familiar with the new techniques and treatments such as the cardiac pacemaker.

Students today also attend New Paltz State University College of Education for the first two semesters for the first year of instruction in the basic physical and social sciences, English composition and speech.

This change meant an entirely new concept in the student level as students are at the hospital only one day a week for 10 months of their first year. Naturally, they are not as clinically competent when they become juniors as previous classes who had received more clinical practice.

A Vast Change

There also is a vast change from the 12-hour a day week of the students of the first half of our early training classes to the eight hour, five day schedule today.

Psychiatric affiliation continues to be taken at Hudson River State Hospital.

In 1904 the Alumnae Association joined the New York State Nurses Association and is still a part today through active membership in district to state to national to international levels.

In 1910 the first delegate from the Alumnae Association to attend a state convention was Miss Lottie Kelder and our association has ever since sent a member to the state and national conventions. The Alumnae Association is sending me to the American Nurses' Association convention in Detroit May 14 to May 18.

Miss Barbara Clark, one of our members is a delegate for District 11, New York State Nurses' Association and Miss Mary Butler, also a member, will attend as a private duty section member.

536 Graduates

In 1915 there were 15 members.

In 1962 we have 59 active, 67 associate and 71 non-resident.

We have 536 graduates.

I wish that our association were a stronger and more active one for it is to help nurses and it belongs to nurses. Our interest is in nursing and the improvement of patient care. It is a professional association, not a social one.

In 1920 our District Association was formed. We are members of District 11 of the New York State Nurses' Association, which includes Ulster and Greene counties and District 11 is a constituted member of the A.N.A.

Disastrous Fire Occurs

In 1926 a disastrous fire ravaged the greater part of our hospital. It was a trying time for all, and yet, we had funny experiences. I well remember the old covered truck that picked the students up every morning on the corner of Broadway and Andrew Street to take us to the Benedictine Hospital where we were given two floors for out patients during our restoration. We loudly sang The Prisoners' Song on the way every morning and little did I think then that on our 60th anniversary we would have the chaplain of Sing Sing Prison as our guest.

In the spring of 1928 the new nurses' residence was completed and the Alumnae furnished china and silver.

In 1939, Room 201, second floor of the hospital was furnished by the Alumnae Association.

1945, a Scholarship and Loan Fund was organized for graduate study. Nearly every year one or two nurses have applied for scholarships.

In 1950, the nurses pledged $10,800 toward the Hospital Building Fund.

In 1962, the Alumnae pledged $7500 toward the proposed new wing. $1500 was given in February of this year, the rest to be paid yearly. The nurses have responded well to the appeal, and I would like to thank them publicly at this time for their support.

In 1959, the Registry for Private Duty Nurses, which had been maintained by the hospital, was turned over to the Alumnae Association.

The Alumnae Association became incorporated in 1959. A new Constitution and By-Laws under the Membership Corporation Law was adopted August 18, 1959.

Throughout the years, the Alumnae has grown, not so much in membership, but in strength. We have had lectures and speakers on new techniques and procedures.

We have refurnished two sitting rooms in the nurses' residence and one in the hospital, donated pictures, lifters, and have given loans to students who were unable to finish training without financial aid.

Strive to Keep Active

Throughout the years we have strived to keep our Association active and alive. Our Alumnae have served in two World Wars, and have served, also, not only in responsible positions in the nursing field, but in many community activities as well.

One of our nurses was the first woman to be honored as Citizen of the Year by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Miss Katherine Murphy, former executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

We are proud of the hospital which has grown with advances in medicine and surgery to offer us the finest experience in nursing in these fields. We are deeply loyal to our school. We wish wistfully that all of our graduates were Association members and attendance at every meeting could be like this tonight. We could make further contributions with such interest and support. The presence of our distinguished guests, our friends and our graduates from 1897 to 1961 here to celebrate our 60th birthday is an exciting experience and gives us confidence in growth and progress in our next 60 years.

I would like at this time to thank Miss Dorothy Buddenhagen, Miss Evaline Mayhan, Miss Kay Heavey, Mrs. Marie Wilber, Mrs. Hazel Castle, Miss Catherine Murphy and Mrs. Marie McNierney for the success of our 60th anniversary dinner. The committee worked very hard and spent time finding all graduates of our school.

Special thanks go to Miss Kay Heavey, our public relations chairman, for all her work tracing old class pictures and other photographs of interest that are on display. Also for her news items and camera studies. She is always available when needed.

And, thank you all for coming. You have helped to make our 60th anniversary one we shall never forget.

To Review Order Of Eviction on Area Book Owner

A review of an order of eviction of John and Rachel Lindmark, owners of a book shop in the path of a new arterial highway at Poughkeepsie, is expected this week by the State Department of Law and Public Works in Albany.

A representative of the state department said the highest levels of both departments are studying the risks involved in the eviction. He said the eviction of the Lindmarks and their estimated million dollars worth of 311,000 books, will be reviewed by high state department officials before a memorandum is sent to Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven.

Judge Haven will be asked to give City Marshal Herman Soloway the eviction notice after receipt of the memorandum.

The spokesman for the state department said the state may reimburse the city marshal for expenses in removing the books from the building.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was stalled at dead center early this afternoon in slow trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 247.10 with industrials, rails and utilities all unchanged.

Movements of most key stocks were from fractions to around a point.

Steels showed no response to reported signs of improvement in steel demand. Big Three motors were off slightly despite the favorable news of low inventories of new cars.

The slackoff in volume from last week's relatively active pace was sharp.

Tobaccos, airlines and rubbers seemed to have an irregular upside edge. Oils and chemicals were mostly lower. Building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Boys must be at least 15 years of age, have completed their junior year, and intend to return to school in the fall as seniors to complete their high school education.

They are chosen on the basis of leadership, chararcter, scholarship ard service. Merit and ability alone is the basis for the selection and no boys are barred from consideration for selection.

Boys' State is a citizenship training program designed to meet the needs of the American youth. Boys' State training inculcates individual responsibility to the community, state and nation. The "Learn by Doing" concept is employed on the theory that good citizenship is only in part a matter of knowledge, intellect and understanding. Boys' State has been aptly described as a laboratory of practical political science, Beichert said.

The training program inspires and instills a deep sense of responsibility and obligation in our youth by educating them in the principles of Democracy and by teaching them the duties, privileges and rights of American citizenship. There will be about 1,000 boys in attendance at this years' Boys' State. The program provided the boys in attendance with a taste of collegiate life and the facilities and plant of Colgate University are ideal for the accomplishment of the aims of the Boys' State program. Colgate University is situated amid the rolling hills of the Chenango Valley, some 1,130 feet above sea level.

Q) "I am a retired Civil Service employee, aged 60, with a monthly pension of $290. I have $4,000 to invest and would like an income with some growth possibilities. I haven't bought stocks since the crash of 1929, when I lost my savings and became a coward where investing is concerned. My son-in-law, who buys stocks suggests Royal Dutch Petroleum, Tower Acceptance, and Eastern Can. How do you feel about these?" M.B.

A) The 1929 crash made us all pretty cautious for a time. I'm glad you've got your courage back.

I've never been a coward where money is concerned, but living through the frenzied '20's certainly strengthened my natural leaning toward conservatism. Your son-in-law's suggestions have some merit and may very likely meet his own requirements—but I don't feel that they're the right stocks for you.

Royal Dutch is a very high grade issue, but there is little growth here, and I would rather see you buy Texaco, a fine oil that is growing and producing a 3 per cent yield, too.

Tower Universal (formerly Tower Acceptance) and Eastern Can are relatively small units in their fields—respectively, small loans and can-making. To my mind, they lack seasoning, and I consider all such stocks too speculative for a man like yourself who needs the very highest in security. In their place I suggest a single issue, Long Island Lighting, yielding a secure 3 per cent, with a good appreciation potential.

Q) "We are a couple under 40, buying stocks for the future. We bought Woolworth because of their plans to go into the discount field. The stock has gone down in value since, and we are wondering if we should sell and buy Interstate Department Stores." T.C.

A) In your position I would do just that. Woolworth is a strong stock well suited for conservative accounts, but I believe there is more growth ahead for Interstate.

No Mud Slinging on Rocky Divorce, Dem Leader Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic State Chairman William McKeon promises that his party and its candidates will not engage in any campaign "mudslinging" against Gov. Rockefeller because of the governor's divorce.

The fact that the Republican governor's wife recently obtained a divorce in Reno, Nev. came up when McKeon was interviewed Sunday on a radio program.

A program questioner mentioned that Rockefeller has said he should be judged on his record and not on any personal matters, and he asked McKeon whether he could pledge no mudslinging when Rockefeller runs for re-election this year.

McKeon, an Auburn lawyer, replied:

"There will certainly be no mudslinging as far as I am concerned, or the Democratic Party, or any candidate that we have running for office.

"If you are referring to his divorce, I would have to say to you that I agree wholeheartedly with Gov. Rockefeller. I think that the matter of the divorce is a personal and private matter and should not be something that is thrown about the political stage or arena."

Discussing the coming campaign, McKeon said he would "Like to see two or three men from Upstate on the ticket" but "not necessarily the candidate for governor."

Noting the heavy Democratic vote in New York City, McKeon said "we must come up with a candidate who is known, and who is popular, especially in the city."

McKeon predicted the race for the Democratic nomination for governor would be wide open. He said he took New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner at his word when he said he would not be a candidate for governor.

He did not name any preference for the nomination, but mentioned a number of possibilities.

Among those he mentioned were Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, an announced candidate, and Queens Dist. Atty. Frank O'Connor, who has indicated he would be interested.

Stratton and O'Connor were not listed among the possibilities discussed by President Kennedy and Wagner at a conference in Washington last week.

"In addition," McKeon said, "we have the gentlemen the mayor mentioned last week in Washington" — New York City Council President Paul R. Screvane, Deputy Mayor Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. and James A. Farley, former national and state Democratic chairman and postmaster general.

McKeon said he also had "heard mention" of several other men, including "a young industrialist of Upstate New York, Howard Samuels."

He said consideration should be given also to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., former New York City congressman and son of the late President.

McKeon did not express any preference for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator to run against Sen. Jacob K. Javits. But he mentioned Ralph Bunche, Negro undersecretary of the United Nations.

60-Year History of Nurses' Society Shows

not only obedience on the part of children, but also the obligation on the part of parents to care for the physical, moral and religious upbringing of the child.

"Many factors enter into the molding of successful citizens of today. Many factors enter into the creation of anti-social denizens of society. To cite a few:

"1. Religious non-observance. Many children do not have a definite contact with organized religion from the class of school on Friday until the opening on Monday.

"2. False ideals. Many teenagers tend to imitate the lives of those who are proficient in the field of entertainment, but how often do they have feet of clay!

"3. Addiction to alcohol and drugs. America today has the concept that in order to become addicted to either drugs or alcohol requires considerable money and advanced age. Despite this opinion, many of our youth are becoming slaves to both because of the availability of these commodities.

"We, as citizens, of a great culture and heritage can put into operation the greatest force for the salvation of the youth of America. This force can be summed up in two words — good example.

History of Association

Mrs. Stewart's history of the Alumnae Association follows:

Sixty years ago on April 12 Miss M. A. C. Moore, superintendent of the City of Kingston Hospital called a meeting of graduate nurses to organize our Alumnae Association. There were seven charter members.

In 1904 the question of registering our school was discussed and through the efforts of Miss Moore, our school was recognized by the State Regents and affiliation at Bellevue Hospital School of Nursing, New York City was approved. I believe Miss Moore was a Bellevue graduate.

Applications Continue

Affiliation in larger schools has continued since 1904, namely—Bellevue, Fordham, Ellis Hospital, Schenectady, Yale in New Haven, Conn., and Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

At present and since 1957 our students have pediatric affiliation at Children's Hospital, Buffalo. The affiliation offers a greater daily census and therefore more experience. It is also a research center and students become acquainted and familiar with the new techniques and treatments such as the cardiac pacemaker.

Students today also attend New Paltz State University College of Education for the first two semesters for the first year of instruction in the basic physical and social sciences, English composition and speech.

This change meant an entirely new concept in the student level as students are at the hospital only one day a week for 10 months of their first year. Naturally, they are not as clinically competent when they become juniors as previous classes who had received more clinical practice.

A Vast Change

There also is a vast change from the 12-hour a day week of the students of the first half of our early training classes to the eight hour, five day schedule today.

Psychiatric affiliation continues to be taken at Hudson River State Hospital.

In 1904 the Alumnae Association joined the New York State Nurses Association and is still a part today through active membership in district to state to national to international levels.

In 1910 the first delegate from the Alumnae Association to attend a state convention was Miss Lottie Kelder and our association has ever since sent a member to the state and national conventions. The Alumnae Association is sending me to the American Nurses' Association convention in Detroit May 14 to May 18.

Miss Barbara Clark, one of our members is a delegate for District 11, New York State Nurses' Association and Miss Mary Butler, also a member, will attend as a private duty section member.

536 Graduates

In 1915 there were 15 members.

In 1962 we have 59 active, 67 associate and 71 non-resident.

We have 536 graduates.

I wish that our association were a stronger and more active one for it is to help nurses and it belongs to nurses. Our interest is in nursing and the improvement of patient care. It is a professional association, not a social one.

In 1920 our District Association was formed. We are members of District 11 of the New York State Nurses' Association, which includes Ulster and Greene counties and District 11 is a constituted member of the A.N.A.

Disastrous Fire Occurs

In 1926 a disastrous fire ravaged the greater part of our hospital. It was a trying time for all, and yet, we had funny experiences. I well remember the old covered truck that picked the students up every morning on the corner of Broadway and Andrew Street to take us to the Benedictine Hospital where we were given two floors for out patients during our restoration. We loudly sang The Prisoners' Song on the way every morning and little did I think then that on our 60th anniversary we would have the chaplain of Sing Sing Prison as our guest.

In the spring of 1928 the new nurses' residence was completed and the Alumnae furnished china and silver.

In 1939, Room 201, second floor of the hospital was furnished by the Alumnae Association.

1945, a Scholarship and Loan Fund was organized for graduate study. Nearly every year one or two nurses have applied for scholarships.

In 1962, the Alumnae pledged $7500 toward the proposed new wing. $1500 was given in February of this year, the rest to be paid yearly. The nurses have responded well to the appeal, and I would like to thank them publicly at this time for their support.

In 1959, the Registry for Private Duty Nurses, which had been maintained by the hospital, was turned over to the Alumnae Association.

The Alumnae Association became incorporated in 1959. A new Constitution and By-Laws under the Membership Corporation Law was adopted August 18, 1959.

Throughout the years, the Alumnae has grown, not so much in membership, but in strength. We have had lectures and speakers on new techniques and procedures.

We have refurnished two sitting rooms in the nurses' residence and one in the hospital, donated pictures, lifters, and have given loans to students who were unable to finish training without financial aid.

Strive to Keep Active

Throughout the years we have strived to keep our Association active and alive. Our Alumnae have served in two World Wars, and have served, also, not only in responsible positions in the nursing field, but in many community activities as well.

One of our nurses was the first woman to be honored as Citizen of the Year by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Miss Katherine Murphy, former executive secretary of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

We are proud of the hospital which has grown with advances in medicine and surgery to offer us the finest experience in nursing in these fields. We are deeply loyal to our school. We wish wistfully that all of our graduates were Association members and attendance at every meeting could be like this tonight. We could make further contributions with such interest and support. The presence of our distinguished guests, our friends and our graduates from 1897 to 1961 here to celebrate our 60th birthday is an exciting experience and gives us confidence in growth and progress in our next 60 years.

I would like at this time to thank Miss Dorothy Buddenhagen, Miss Evaline Mayhan, Miss Kay Heavey, Mrs. Marie Wilber, Mrs. Hazel Castle, Miss Catherine Murphy and Mrs. Marie McNierney for the success of our 60th anniversary dinner. The committee worked very hard and spent time finding all graduates of our school.

Special thanks go to Miss Kay Heavey, our public relations chairman, for all her work tracing old class pictures and other photographs of interest that are on display. Also for her news items and camera studies. She is always available when needed.

And, thank you all for coming. You have helped to make our 60th anniversary one we shall never forget.

To Review Order Of Eviction on Area Book Owner

A review of an order of eviction of John and Rachel Lindmark, owners of a book shop in the path of a new arterial highway at Poughkeepsie, is expected this week by the State Department of Law and Public Works in Albany.

A representative of the state department said the highest levels of both departments are studying the risks involved in the eviction. He said the eviction of the Lindmarks and their estimated million dollars worth of 311,000 books, will be reviewed by high state department officials before a memorandum is sent to Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven.

Judge Haven will be asked to give City Marshal Herman Soloway the eviction notice after receipt of the memorandum.

The spokesman for the state department said the state may reimburse the city marshal for expenses in removing the books from the building.

Two Fined for Rifles

Accused of having rifles in their cars, two men were taken into custody Sunday by Leeds State Police, and both pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Paul Weddleton, Town of Coxsackie. Troopers A. J. Peterson and Michael Cannon booked Alfred Perry, 42, of Greenville, and William Ringwall, 44, of Coeyman's Hollow. Ringwall was fined $25 and Perry $10.

Pays Speeding Fine

Simon Stanley, 32, of Route 1, Hopewell Junction, charged on April 26 with speeding on Route 9W, Port Ewen, paid a fine of $10 when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie of Town of Esopus on Saturday. Stanley was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Richard H. Drew Jr. and Peter Peterson, during a routine patrol.

$5,000 Reward Offered

The government offered a reward of about $5,000 for information leading to his capture.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was stalled at dead center early this afternoon in slow trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 247.10 with industrials, rails and utilities all unchanged.

Movements of most key stocks were from fractions to around a point.

Steels showed no response to reported signs of improvement in steel demand. Big Three motors were off slightly despite the favorable news of low inventories of new cars.

The slackoff in volume from last week's relatively active pace was sharp.

Tobaccos, airlines and rubbers seemed to have an irregular upside edge. Oils and chemicals were mostly lower. Building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Boys must be at least 15 years of age, have completed their junior year, and intend to return to school in the fall as seniors to complete their high school education.

They are chosen on the basis of leadership, chararcter, scholarship and service. Merit and ability alone is the basis for the selection and no boys are barred from consideration for selection.

Boys' State is a citizenship training program designed to meet the needs of the American youth. Boys' State training inculcates individual responsibility to the community, state and nation. The "Learn by Doing" concept is employed on the theory that good citizenship is only in part a matter of knowledge, intellect and understanding. Boys' State has been aptly described as a laboratory of practical political science, Beichert said.

The training program inspires and instills a deep sense of responsibility and obligation in our youth by educating them in the principles of Democracy and by teaching them the duties, privileges and rights of American citizenship. There will be about 1,000 boys in attendance at this years' Boys' State. The program provided the boys in attendance with a taste of collegiate life and the facilities and plant of Colgate University are ideal for the accomplishment of the aims of the Boys' State program. Colgate University is situated amid the rolling hills of the Chenango Valley, some 1,130 feet above sea level.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the public interest?

You hear the phrase invoked constantly these days as a measure of what is right or wrong. But when you seek a clear definition of what the public interest really is you come up with a mass of conflicting interpretations.

This is particularly true in labor - management disputes, in wage or price boosts, in tariffs, in tax policies, in government spending vs. budget balancing.

Rail Reports Cited

Often directly opposing views are each labeled in the public interest, if the public would only realize it. And increasingly you hear still a third idea, the government's policy, advanced as representing the true public interest, differing from that set forth by either contestant.

The report of a presidential emergency board on a wage hike for nonoperating railroad employes is an example. The board feels the public interest would be served by a 10-cent-an-hour boost, which it says would qualify by being within government-set limits of noninflationary increases.

The President adds that the railroads and the unions should negotiate a responsible and noninflationary settlement in their own and in the public interest. The trouble is each side has its own idea of what is or isn't inflationary, what is or isn't good for the country.

The union says the proposed hike isn't enough. Labor argues that higher wages are in the public interest when they mean more spending money that will boost the general economy and spread jobs.

Rail management feels that the public interest would be better served by no wage increase at all. This would ease the pressure for higher freight rates and passenger fares, help ailing roads out of the red.

Views Differ

Management holds that the public interest requires a healthy transportation system, profitable enough to assure jobs, buy needed equipment, improve service, and aid the growth of the whole economy. To this end, railroad management opposes labor practices it calls featherbedding, and wage hikes it says must be met by rate hikes.

Public interest, by definition, also would seem to include the welfare of those least likely to be heard from in this or any dispute —the general citizenry. This includes those who ride on the railroads, ship their goods or get their raw materials by rails, and the largest group of all, the consumers. Transportation costs have a direct bearing on retail prices. And consumers have an interest in seeing that roads keep running and distribute the things consumers must have.

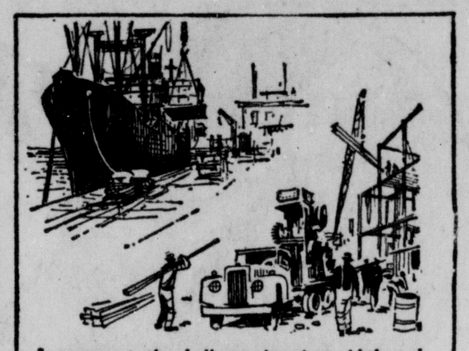
Calumets

Ceremonial pipes of the American Indians, known as calumets, were respected symbols used only on special occasions. One end of the calumet usually was decorated with the head of a bird.

What the Common Market Means to You (1) Aftermath of War

Europe, for centuries the spawning ground of wars and national rivalries, reached the end of a bitter road in 1945.

To the struggle to rebuild was soon added a new military and political threat from the East. The issue became more than mere survival but the building of a strength that could resist Communist engulfment.



In response to the challenge, American aid through the Marshall Plan began in 1948. The 17-member Organization for European Economic Cooperation was set up to administer the program. And then in 1949, the NATO military alliance was formed.

NEXT: Steps to Union.

STOCKHOLDERS NEED COURAGE

The psychological forces underlying the stock market are getting more powerful as time passes. Frequently fears and uncertainties cloud the minds of countless investors, and stocks are dumped without regard to reason.

A seasoned industry built into the warp and woof of America's economy always recovers after periods of misfortune. Clear evidences of this can be plainly seen in recent history.

For months the international petroleum shares like Standard Oil of New Jersey, Royal Dutch, and Amerada, with valuable properties in dangerous spots in the world, were fearfully sold. Advices by the thousands were mailed out to oil shareholders urging the sale of such stock. Standard of New Jersey, the biggest outfit in the world, tumbled 50 per cent in price. And many others fell more than that.

Frightened investors in Jersey Oil who sold at $38-$40 a share are now buying it back at $55. And Amerada that was dumped at $60 is being bought now in the $110-$120 range.

The electrical equipment industry, with leaders like General Electric, Westinghouse, and Allis-Chalmers, suffered psychological selling when some price-fixing officers got into trouble. Those stocks, too, declined more than 50 per cent, and even now they have not recovered the price levels they will reach later on. All three are now in the buying range for courageous long-pull investors.

The steel industry, basic in our economy, is now in the throes of political pressure. And just as Standard Oil of New Jersey was the target a few months ago, so at present United States Steel, the ranking world's producer, and Bethlehem, second in size, are being gunned by many analysts.

The psychological forces loose in the country influence millions of inexperienced stockholders. It is estimated that today there are about 15,000,000 equity owners in the United States. Half of them are of recent vintage and hence they fall easy prey to the fear and uncertainties generated by changes in the social, economic and political climate.

And when one remembers that Congress voted an appropriation of $750,000 last year to carry on an investigation of the stock exchanges, mutual funds, and the over-the-counter markets, one can see what dangers circumscribe the entire investment world.

The low ethical and professional standards of the security business, coupled with dangerous psychological powers built into common stock, produce a combination of factors that brokers, bankers, and investment advisers must competently manage.

Inexperienced and gullible investors who withdraw precious savings from institutions founded on thrift and saving to speculate in stocks are playing with fire.

And experienced stockholders who unnecessarily dump good shares when temporary social and economic forces crowd in around them should remember that basic industries always survive, and it is better to buy a stock when the pressure is on it than to sell.

I think that in a year investors who dumped U. S. Steel and Bethlehem and the rest will be sorry.

Mating Oddity

Males of the Gould's manakin, a small warbler-like bird of Panama, during mating season, form a long stag line extending many yards through the main forest, a procedure which ornithologists believe attracts females from a greater distance than if each male courted on his own.

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the public interest?

You hear the phrase invoked constantly these days as a measure of what is right or wrong. But when you seek a clear definition of what the public interest really is you come up with a mass of conflicting interpretations.

This is particularly true in labor - management disputes, in wage or price boosts, in tariffs, in tax policies, in government spending vs. budget balancing.

Rail Reports Cited

Often directly opposing views are each labeled in the public interest, if the public would only realize it. And increasingly you hear still a third idea, the government's policy, advanced as representing the true public interest, differing from that set forth by either contestant.

The report of a presidential emergency board on a wage hike for nonoperating railroad employes is an example. The board feels the public interest would be served by a 10-cent-an-hour boost, which it says would qualify by being within government-set limits of noninflationary increases.

The President adds that the railroads and the unions should negotiate a responsible and noninflationary settlement in their own and in the public interest. The trouble is each side has its own idea of what is or isn't inflationary, what is or isn't good for the country.

The union says the proposed hike isn't enough. Labor argues that higher wages are in the public interest when they mean more spending money that will boost the general economy and spread jobs.

Rail management feels that the public interest would be better served by no wage increase at all. This would ease the pressure for higher freight rates and passenger fares, help ailing roads out of the red.

Views Differ

Management holds that the public interest requires a healthy transportation system, profitable enough to assure jobs, buy needed equipment, improve service, and aid the growth of the whole economy. To this end, railroad management opposes labor practices it calls featherbedding, and wage hikes it says must be met by rate hikes.

Public interest, by definition, also would seem to include the welfare of those least likely to be heard from in this or any dispute —the general citizenry. This includes those who ride on the railroads, ship their goods or get their raw materials by rails, and the largest group of all, the consumers. Transportation costs have a direct bearing on retail prices. And consumers have an interest in seeing that roads keep running and distribute the things consumers must have.

Calumets

Ceremonial pipes of the American Indians, known as calumets, were respected symbols used only on special occasions. One end of the calumet usually was decorated with the head of a bird.

What the Common Market Means to You (1) Aftermath of War

Europe, for centuries the spawning ground of wars and national rivalries, reached the end of a bitter road in 1945.

To the struggle to rebuild was soon added a new military and political threat from the East. The issue became more than mere survival but the building of a strength that could resist Communist engulfment.

In response to the challenge, American aid through the Marshall Plan began in 1948. The 17-member Organization for European Economic Cooperation was set up to administer the program. And then in 1949, the NATO military alliance was formed.

NEXT: Steps to Union.

Investor Forum

STOCKHOLDERS NEED COURAGE

The psychological forces underlying the stock market are getting more powerful as time passes. Frequently fears and uncertainties cloud the minds of countless investors, and stocks are dumped without regard to reason.

A seasoned industry built into the warp and woof of America's economy always recovers after periods of misfortune. Clear evidences of this can be plainly seen in recent history.

For months the international petroleum shares like Standard Oil of New Jersey, Royal Dutch, and Amerada, with valuable properties in dangerous spots in the world, were fearfully sold. Advices by the thousands were mailed out to oil shareholders urging the sale of such stock. Standard of New Jersey, the biggest outfit in the world, tumbled 50 per cent in price. And many others fell more than that.

Frightened investors in Jersey Oil who sold at $38-$40 a share are now buying it back at $55. And Amerada that was dumped at $60 is being bought now in the $110-$120 range.

The electrical equipment industry, with leaders like General Electric, Westinghouse, and Allis-Chalmers, suffered psychological selling when some price-fixing officers got into trouble. Those stocks, too, declined more than 50 per cent, and even now they have not recovered the price levels they will reach later on. All three are now in the buying range for courageous long-pull investors.

The steel industry, basic in our economy, is now in the throes of political pressure. And just as Standard Oil of New Jersey was the target a few months ago, so at present United States Steel, the ranking world's producer, and Bethlehem, second in size, are being gunned by many analysts.

The psychological forces loose in the country influence millions of inexperienced stockholders. It is estimated that today there are about 15,000,000 equity owners in the United States. Half of them are of recent vintage and hence they fall easy prey to the fear and uncertainties generated by changes in the social, economic and political climate.

And when one remembers that Congress voted an appropriation of $750,000 last year to carry on an investigation of the stock exchanges, mutual funds, and the over-the-counter markets, one can see what dangers circumscribe the entire investment world.

The low ethical and professional standards of the security business, coupled with dangerous psychological powers built into common stock, produce a combination of factors that brokers, bankers, and investment advisers must competently manage.

Inexperienced and gullible investors who withdraw precious savings from institutions founded on thrift and saving to speculate in stocks are playing with fire.

And experienced stockholders who unnecessarily dump good shares when temporary social and economic forces crowd in around them should remember that basic industries always survive, and it is better to buy a stock when the pressure is on it than to sell.

I think that in a year investors who dumped U. S. Steel and Bethlehem and the rest will be sorry.

Mating Oddity

Males of the Gould's manakin, a small warbler-like bird of Panama, during mating season, form a long stag line extending many yards through the main forest, a procedure which ornithologists believe attracts females from a greater distance than if each male courted on his own.

"There's a SHOP-RITE Only a Few Minutes From Wherever You Live"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Received a phone call from Mrs. Jessie Ellen Clark of 78 West Union Street who read the item taken from the Dec. 7, 1926 Freeman, when S. T. Quann of West Union Street cranking his car on Hone Street and it suddenly started unexpectedly, ran over Quann and kept on going down Forsyth Alley, between Abeel and West Union Street. It then struck D. Wetterhahn's grocery store and finally stopped at Cornell's Engine Hose Company.

Mrs. Clark had a good laugh telling me about it, as she said she remembered how "Papa ran with the car, yelling to everyone to get out of the way of the self steering car." Luckily no one was hurt. She addded the information that the car started from Hone Street. She said she remembered when there was a sign, Forsyth Alley, on one of the four corners, but it has since been taken down. Forsyth Alley is know by really very few, as it is just a cut in a street but wide enough for a car, of the old vintage anyway. It is used as a short cut by many. .

I was interested to know how it received its name. She said she heard that there was a Miss Forsyth, who had a candy store around there. I have Mr. Goodsell's Kingston and Rondout directory of 1858 and see John Forsyth, confectioner, Abeel near Hone Street, residence same place. I also see Alexander Forsyth, captain of steamboat, M. T. Schuyler who boarded at 4 Division Street now Broadway.

Back in 1957, Harry Rigby Jr., our city historian wanted to get the story behind the names of our streets and looking through the material he brought me, I find one on Forsyth Alley.

The readers no doubt recall that Mr. Rigby did a great deal of work on finding the story behind the name of the Kingston streets. He would bring me the information, I would run it in the column, and that way the readers would call him, and he would take down every shred of information and add to what we had. I kept all these records as I am sure he did. Among them I found the Forsyth Alley story.

It seems, that Edward Wetterhahn, of the Kingston Water Department told him at the time, that Forsyth Alley, a short street that runs to West Union Street from a point on Abeel Street just east of the Cornell Hose Co. was undoubtedly named for a Forsyth family that owned for many years the house on Abeel Street corner. He remembers, as a small boy, buying penny candy from Miss Jane Forsyth who ran a small basement store in the building. I spoke to Mr. Wetterhahn today, and he remembers the story of Mr. Clark's father's runaway car, and she told me also about Forsyth's candy store.

Perhaps Captain Edward H. Albrecht, (Yank) can add more to this information, as he often adds to my collection of stories of downtown.

In time, no doubt, all this information will only be on paper, for many changes are planned for downtown. The new bridge for one thing will change the face of Rondout, as did the 1921 Rondout Creek Bridge. Who will care about Forsyth Alley some 50 years from now. If you remember, when the Rondout Creek Bridge was built it was a hardship to those who lived in Sleightsburg and worked in Kingston or Rondout after the Skillyput stopped running a year later. They were the forgotten people then, and it is still difficult to go from Rondout to Sleightsburgh, although it is right across the Rondout Creek from us.

IRS Advises Area Taxpayers To Save Records

Don't wait until next year. Start keeping your records now.

Local district director James A. O'Hara reminded taxpayers that there are numerous types of income, in addition to salaries and wages, which should be included in computing your federal income tax.

Examples of income which must be reported include bonuses, tips, commissions, dividends, interest on bank deposits, interest on U. S. Savings Bonds, rents, royalties, and income from part-time work not reported on Form W-2.

Examples of income that is not taxable include Social Security Benefits, Railroad Retirement Act Benefits, interest on State and Municipal Bonds, dividends on Veterans' Government Insurance and Workmen's Compensation payments as well as gifts and inheritances.

Remember that unreported taxable income discovered after you file your return is subject to interest and possible penalties. If you are uncertain about the tax liability of any money received or earned, call your local district director's office for information. Telephone numbers are listed in telephone directories under "U. S. Government — Treasury Department."

Plan Missiles Show at Arsenal Open House Day

Watervliet Arsenal will bristle with missiles on May 19 when space age hardware will be a major attraction for visitors to the installation's annual Armed Forces Day Open House.

Army and Navy missiles, a model of an orbiting astronomical observatory and one illustrating 11 stages of a missile launching and flight; and an exhibit depicting American satellite development, will be among the space weapons and equipment on view between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

The Army will be represented by the Nike-Ajax guided missile, the 39-foot Honest John artillery rocket, and the tank-killing SS-10 which can be launched from a ground vehicle or a helicopter.

The Navy missile to be exhibited is, in part, a "homegrown" Arsenal product. Watervliet is currently making motors for the supersonic ship-to-air Terrier, as well as components for the Tartar, a similar Navy weapon. Visitors will also be able to see actual fabrication of these parts in the Arsenal Missile Facility in Bldg. 110.

Industry will be represented in the Arsenal space age display with the orbiting observatory, provided by Gruman Aircraft Engineering Corp., and the missile launch model made available by Sperry-Gyroscope Company. Also, the GE Test Station at Malta will exhibit an engine of the Vanguard, pioneer Navy satellite; and Firestone Tire & Rubber Corp., which will display gun tubes and projectiles the firm manufactures for the U. S. Ordnance Corps.

$884,801 School Budget Approved, Rate is $103.28

At the recent annual New Paltz Central School Board meeting the 159 voters passed the school budget in the amount of $884,801 for the coming fiscal year. The tax rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation for school district residents in Gardiner and New Paltz will be $103.28.

With almost the same percentage, the vote authorizing a two-year contract for bus transportation in the amount of $66,853.93 was also passed.

It was announced that under the Diefendorf Law, New Paltz for the first time will receive state aid for building programs in the amount of 37 per cent. This means that New Paltz will get the same proportion as other school districts on debt service for building programs.

All members of the School Board took turns in explaining the budget which was presented in a 39 page brochure. This is the first year that the budget was made up under a new state accounting system, and though most items were listed under new categories, the board members were able to explain the comparisons of the new budget with previous ones.

These include: A revision of philosophy and objectives of education, enlargement of the safety program, expansion of music program to over 400 students, extension of the senior play performance to two nights, adoption of physical fitness program, yearbook award of first prize from Columbia Scholastic Press, instruction of three foreign languages, development of curriculum laboratory by elementary teachers, steps to increase drop-outs, award of 11 regents scholarships, and adoption of cooperative bidding for school supplies.

Plans now for next year include summer classes for elementary as well as high school, increased psychological services and remedial reading, a comprehensive evaluation of the entire educational program, installation of a language laboratory, as well as expansion of the vocational program, the guidance service, the elementary library, and the physical education program, and another high school English teacher.

An appreciative vote of applause was tendered Mrs. John Jacobson and John Ashton Jr., who are retiring after six years of faithful service.

Mayor Henry Dubois served as chairman of the meeting.

At the recent School Board election Mrs. Nathan Stillman, Joseph Foley and Jay LeFevre were elected.

Foley has just completed a three year term. He is administrative assistant to the resident vice-president of IBM in Poughkeepsie. He is a member of St. Joseph's Church, a past president of the Holy Name Society, vice president of the State Cancer Society, a member of the executive committee of the Mid-Hudson Study Council, and area counselor for SCAD.

Mrs. Stillman is the wife of Dr. Nathan Stillman of the college faculty. She received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees at Teacher's College in Albany and has done graduate work at Columbia University. She has participated in a workshop reading course at New Paltz and taught at the Vassar Summer Institute. Her work has been in elementary education, having taught in Albany and the Westfield State Farm.

Jay LeFevre is the son of Jay LeFevre, ex-Congresman from this district. He is in business with the family firm of A. P. LeFevre and Son Lumber Company.

He is a native of New Paltz and attended Lawrenceville Prep School and the University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Reformed Church, New Paltz Fire Department, the Paltz Club and is a director of Kingston Hospital.

School District To Vote May 28 On Two New Sites

Acting upon a recommendation made by the Independent Citizen's Committee on Education, the Board of Education of New Paltz Central Schol has unanimously passed a motion to present to the voters of New Paltz Central School District, a proposal to purchase two tracts of land for use in future building plans. Voting on this proposal will take place on May 28 from 2 to 9 p. m.

In calling for a site vote separate from the present building, the board is attempting to fulfill the wishes of the district as revealed by a survey made by the ICCE.

After a careful study of available sites and taking into consideration cost, availability of services, cost of necessary site development and probability of future community expansion, the Board has chosen to recommend two sites for immediate purchase.

One site located on the north edge of the village of New Paltz consists of 20 acres and belongs to the New Paltz Growers. The cost of this land would be $7,000. This site is on high ground overlooking the Shawangunk Mountains on one side and the Village of New Paltz on the other, and is in a location which is certain to be encompassed by future community development.

A right of way to the area will be donated by Mrs. Charles Van Alst. This location is close enough to the village water line to make it practical to use this source.

The second tract proposed by the board is one consisting of approximately 20 acres located about six miles south of the Village of New Paltz in the town of Gardiner with frontage on the west side of state Route 208. Part of this land belongs to Burton Van Aken and part to Andrew Deyo. The total cost of this tract will be $12,000. Tests of the ground of both sites have been found satisfactory.

The Board of Education wishes to make it clear that no definite plans have yet been made for the placing of buildings on these sites. The members are consulting with the Citizen's Committee studying the needs and desires of the community as to the type and number of buildings that will best meet the immediate and long range educational requirements of the School District.

Extra Tricks Are Delusion

BY OSWALD JACOBY

The last two week's columns have covered rather complicated playing situations. This week's and next's will discuss simple hands that can go wrong if declarer gets the least bit careless.

Playing at three no-trump, South should duck the first spade lead. Not that it makes any real difference this time, but occasionally when you duck, the opponents will be nice enough to shift to another suit.

However, West continues with the queen and South must take his ace. A quick count of winners shows that he can take four diamonds, three hearts and one club in addition to the spade already in his possession. A further count shows that while he might set up some further winners in the club suit the opponents will get around to the rest of the spade suit first. Therefore South should settle for his contract.

He can still find a way to go wrong if he doesn't follow the principle of cashing his high cards in the short hand first. His next three plays must be dummy's queen and jack of diamonds and king of hearts. Then he can enter his hand with the three of hearts and take the ace-queen of hearts and ace-king of diamonds.

Finally, he should cash the ace of clubs and give up.

2 Young Brothers Tumble 75 Feet, Were After Shirt

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rescuers inched along a 75-yard stretch of narrow rock above the fast-flowing Genesee River Sunday, carrying two injured young brothers out of the steep river george on stretchers.

Police said the boys, Philip Spector, 11, and Thomas, 9, tumbled 75 feet down the gorge on the city's North Side while trying to retrieve a lost shirt. Neither was critically hurt.

A 12-man rescue team of police, firemen, ambulance attendants and volunteers worked their way down through trees and paths along the 300-foot gorge after someone spotted the youngsters.

Police said the boys were crossing the Park Avenue Bridge when the wind blew a yellow sweatshirt out of Philip's hands. Philip fell while climbing down the gorge after the shirt, landing about 30 feet from the water. Thomas, who had followed his brother, lost his footing too and landed near Philip.

The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spector of Rochester, were taken to Northside Hospital.

The last two week's columns have covered rather complicated playing situations. This week's and next's will discuss simple hands that can go wrong if declarer gets the least bit careless.

Playing at three no-trump, South should duck the first spade lead. Not that it makes any real difference this time, but occasionally when you duck, the opponents will be nice enough to shift to another suit.

However, West continues with the queen and South must take his ace. A quick count of winners shows that he can take four diamonds, three hearts and one club in addition to the spade already in his possession. A further count shows that while he might set up some further winners in the club suit the opponents will get around to the rest of the spade suit first. Therefore South should settle for his contract.

He can still find a way to go wrong if he doesn't follow the principle of cashing his high cards in the short hand first. His next three plays must be dummy's queen and jack of diamonds and king of hearts. Then he can enter his hand with the three of hearts and take the ace-queen of hearts and ace-king of diamonds.

Finally, he should cash the ace of clubs and give up.

2 Young Brothers Tumble 75 Feet, Were After Shirt

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Rescuers inched along a 75-yard stretch of narrow rock above the fast-flowing Genesee River Sunday, carrying two injured young brothers out of the steep river george on stretchers.

Police said the boys, Philip Spector, 11, and Thomas, 9, tumbled 75 feet down the gorge on the city's North Side while trying to retrieve a lost shirt. Neither was critically hurt.

A 12-man rescue team of police, firemen, ambulance attendants and volunteers worked their way down through trees and paths along the 300-foot gorge after someone spotted the youngsters.

Police said the boys were crossing the Park Avenue Bridge when the wind blew a yellow sweatshirt out of Philip's hands. Philip fell while climbing down the gorge after the shirt, landing about 30 feet from the water. Thomas, who had followed his brother, lost his footing too and landed near Philip.

Two Nuns Lose Lives in Canal, Were at Funeral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two Roman Catholic nuns, both natives of Upstate New York, were killed Saturday when the automobile in which they were returning from a funeral skidded and plunged into a canal.

Four other nuns were injured.

The dead were Sister Superior Rose Rita of the Convent of Mary Immaculate in Key West, a native of Cohoes, N.Y., and Sister Mary Georgette of San Pablo's Convent in Marathon Shores, a native of Schenectady, N.Y.

Both were members of the Order of the Holy Name.

New Instrument Aids Analysis at City Laboratory

The Board of Managers of the City of Kingston Laboratory has recently installed the first instrument for automatic chemistry in the Mid-Hudson Valley known as an AutoAnalyzer.

The equipment will be used to determine various chemicals in the blood of patients in the Benedictine and Kingston Hospitals and of out-patients who come to the central laboratory, Broadway.

The instrument is capable of handling up to sixty specimens per hour and of performing multiple tests on the same specimen simultaneously. For example, from a single specimen of 0.3cc the machine will determine the sodium, potassium, chloride and carbon dioxide levels within four minutes.

On one day recently, Mrs. Jacqueline Isola, a junior chemist on the Laboratory Staff, performed two hundred sugar determinations and one hundred and fifty blood urea nitrogen tests. An additional dividend from the Auto-Analyzer is the unprecedented precision with which chemical analyses can be performed.

The board of managers expects this instrumentation to free at least one person for additional duties in the laboratory's biochemistry department and to enable the department to handle the constantly increasing number of tests required by patients in the community.

The board of managers already reduced some of the laboratory's charges on out-patients at the beginning of this year and it is their hope that this new instrument may permit additional future savings to the public.

700 Students Take Tuberculin Test in 2 Schools

Seven hundred students were given Heaf Tuberculin skin tests last week at Public School 3 and St. Mary's Parochial School. This public health service offered the schools is cooperatively sponsored and administered by professional staff members of the Department of Health, the Tuberculosis Hospital and the TB and Health Association.

Dr. E. Franklin Hall, commissioner of health, in describing the Heaf test said, "The Heaf method of tuberculin testing is done by placing a drop of tuberculin on the forearm, and using a multipuncture instrument equipped with an automatic release over that area, the skin is punctured by six small points." Thursday, an interpretation or reading of all tests will be made by a team of the participating doctors and nurses.

Expect Few Reactions

Dr. Hall said, "We do not expect to find a large number of positive reactors among students but in those instances where our interpretation is positive we will advise the private physician who was named on the authorization form signed by all parents." "We sincerely hope," the Commissioner said, "that those who are asked to be retested or to have a chest X-ray will cooperate in these health measures promptly."

Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, a specialist in lung diseases, who is medical director at Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, said, "Today, TB experts view this in a different light than in years past. Presently it is believed that those persons who are positive tuberculin reactors can be helped to maintain their health through periodic examinations including regular chest X-rays and preventive treatment with modern drugs in certain specific situations."

Dr. Schwartz emphasized that "a positive reaction does not, in itself, mean a person has active disease. It does, however, indicate," he said, "that the person has been in close contact with an individual who has or had active tuberculosis and that under certain circumstances they could have a breakdown and develop the disease."

Coordinator for the project, Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, of the TB Association, said today, "these are the first schools in the city to have this test done using the Heaf method. Three years ago at the request of the Saugerties Central School, this testing program was initiated. Since then 2066 students have been tested in Saugerties and Onteora School Systems."

The coordinator explained that in schools where testing has been done, the school boards approval has been given for the cooperation of the school's health service in this project. Tuberculin testing for students is recommended by the health director of the State Education Department as a screening test to find children who will need special observation during their school career.

Name Test Teams

The teams that did the tests consisted of Dr. Hall; Dr. Schwartz, Dr. Mauro J. Caranza of the Tuberculosis Hospital; Miss Esther A. Schisa, Miss Anne Hayes and Mrs. Elizabeth Korzendorfer, Public Health Nurses; and the school nurses, Mrs. Viola Haggerty and Miss Sheila Volweider.

Other school nurse-teachers from Kingston Consolidated School System assigned to observe this project also assisted in preparation for the tests. School Administrators Miss Mary Polhemus and Sister M. Cecelia, both had high praise for the smooth operation of the project and expressed amazement at the rapidity and ease with which testing was accomplished.

Russian Avoids Answering All Direct Questions

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Cosmonaut Ghermnan S. Titov, during Sunday evening's NEC program in which he appeared with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., jocularly mourned his lack of training for public appearances.

This came just as many of us were feeling that although the Russian major smiled and talked a lot, he carefully was not saying very much—certainly nothing we had not heard or read often before. Usually, in fact, he avoided answering direct questions and just talked around them.

His big moment came when he found a chance to launch into a long denial of stories about failures of Soviet space experiments. Generally he proved an expert in evasive answers.

NBC had a wonderful idea in bringing together the two spacemen, Titov and Glenn. Glenn, as usual, handled himself superbly, repeatedly trying to turn the hour into a useful, enlightening discussion of mutual space problems. But, it seemed to this member of the home audience, the Russian wanted it to be a series of pleasantries and generalities.

One can only hope Friday evening's "Andy Williams Show" was not, after all, a preview of his next season's variety program. Despite the presence of such performers as Williams, Dick Van Dyke, Andy Griffith and Ann-Margret, it was an uninspired hour's outing.

The songs were not very tuneful, the comedy sequences were tired. The performers did their level best—they just didn't have any material. It's a pity.

Warner Brothers, whose "Surfside 6" disappears from ABC after the summer reruns, will conduct another of their shrewd salvage operations. Troy Donahue, the current teen-age crush, will shift over to the studio's "Hawaiian Eye," which has been renewed for another season. The switch is accomplished with Troy's television identity—Sandy Winfield II—surviving intact as his private eye jobs move from a Miami to a Honolulu locale.

Important Development

Most important 1961 development in the candy industry was the increased use of chocolate in candy, largely due to record cocoa bean production, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Carried New York's Finest

Retired Police Horses Have Rest Farm of Own

OTISVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—There's a retirement home in this peaceful rural area for some New York City residents who have put in the best years of their lives maintaining peace in the big city.

The onetime New Yorkers—all formerly connected with the city's police department—are old or ailing now. You may never have called them New York's finest, but in their glory they often carried New York's finest on their backs.

Put out to pasture here, they have a comprehensive retirement plan that includes:

Free, pure grain meals and all the grass they can eat.

Guaranteed daily delicacies such as carrots, sugar and apples in season.

A daily health checkup.

On arriving at the retirement home, each horse is given a 2-week orientation period to help it adjust from the hustle and bustle of urban life to the quiet pleasures of the country.

There is one hurdle, however, that each horse must leap for himself. Officials at the farm noted that the Otisville set has developed a complex social order and that each new arrival finds himself at the bottom.

Explained Dr. Lisberth Kraft, who is in charge of the city health department's Otisville laboratory, which maintains the farm:

"Through biting, jousting and one thing and another—they never injure each other—they establish who the No. 1 horse is and rank the others right on down the line.

"If a horse is at the watering trough and one of his superiors comes up, he steps aside and waits until his superior has had his fill before resuming.

"And one of the elite horses always blocks the barn door in the evening and won't let any of his inferiors in until he goes in. And he won't go in until he's led in—by a human handler."

Most of the farm's 62 guests were nearing the ripe old equine age of 20 when they arrived. Others, however, have simply slowed up too much for police work.

There's Knight, a 17-year-old bay gelding who was one of the mounted district's favorite horses. Laid low with the colic, an abdominal ailment, he retired last week.

Cherokee, aged 10, is suffering from chronic emphysema, a shortness of breath, while the daily demands of city life were just too much for 11-year-old Custer, who developed a heart condition.

"These horses have earned a good retirement," said Deputy Inspector Howard H. Reubner, in charge of the mounted district. He added:

"They've put in 8 hours a day, 5 days a week and sometimes more, under tough conditions—contending with trucks, cars, people, everything under the sun."

Three Persons Injured in Helicopter Crash

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A helicopter used for sightseeing crashed on take-off Saturday, injuring the pilot and two passengers.

All three were reported in satisfactory condition at St. Catherine's General Hospital. They were Allen McHardy, 27, of Toronto the pilot, and Gerrard and Paul Van Herk, both of Thorold, Ont.

Police said the craft plunged down from a height of 30 feet just north of the Niagara heliport on the outskirts of the city. The cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

Glenn, as usual, handled himself superbly, repeatedly trying to turn the hour into a useful, enlightening discussion of mutual space problems. But, it seemed to this member of the home audience, the Russian wanted it to be a series of pleasantries and generalities.

One can only hope Friday evening's "Andy Williams Show" was not, after all, a preview of his next season's variety program. Despite the presence of such performers as Williams, Dick Van Dyke, Andy Griffith and Ann-Margret, it was an uninspired hour's outing.

The songs were not very tuneful, the comedy sequences were tired. The performers did their level best—they just didn't have any material. It's a pity.

Warner Brothers, whose "Surfside 6" disappears from ABC after the summer reruns, will conduct another of their shrewd salvage operations. Troy Donahue, the current teen-age crush, will shift over to the studio's "Hawaiian Eye," which has been renewed for another season. The switch is accomplished with Troy's television identity—Sandy Winfield II—surviving intact as his private eye jobs move from a Miami to a Honolulu locale.

Important Development

Most important 1961 development in the candy industry was the increased use of chocolate in candy, largely due to record cocoa bean production, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Carried New York's Finest

OTISVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—There's a retirement home in this peaceful rural area for some New York City residents who have put in the best years of their lives maintaining peace in the big city.

The onetime New Yorkers—all formerly connected with the city's police department—are old or ailing now. You may never have called them New York's finest, but in their glory they often carried New York's finest on their backs.

Put out to pasture here, they have a comprehensive retirement plan that includes:

Free, pure grain meals and all the grass they can eat.

Guaranteed daily delicacies such as carrots, sugar and apples in season.

A daily health checkup.

On arriving at the retirement home, each horse is given a 2-week orientation period to help it adjust from the hustle and bustle of urban life to the quiet pleasures of the country.

There is one hurdle, however, that each horse must leap for himself. Officials at the farm noted that the Otisville set has developed a complex social order and that each new arrival finds himself at the bottom.

Explained Dr. Lisberth Kraft, who is in charge of the city health department's Otisville laboratory, which maintains the farm:

"Through biting, jousting and one thing and another—they never injure each other—they establish who the No. 1 horse is and rank the others right on down the line.

"If a horse is at the watering trough and one of his superiors comes up, he steps aside and waits until his superior has had his fill before resuming.

"And one of the elite horses always blocks the barn door in the evening and won't let any of his inferiors in until he goes in. And he won't go in until he's led in—by a human handler."

Most of the farm's 62 guests were nearing the ripe old equine age of 20 when they arrived. Others, however, have simply slowed up too much for police work.

There's Knight, a 17-year-old bay gelding who was one of the mounted district's favorite horses. Laid low with the colic, an abdominal ailment, he retired last week.

Cherokee, aged 10, is suffering from chronic emphysema, a shortness of breath, while the daily demands of city life were just too much for 11-year-old Custer, who developed a heart condition.

"These horses have earned a good retirement," said Deputy Inspector Howard H. Reubner, in charge of the mounted district. He added:

"They've put in 8 hours a day, 5 days a week and sometimes more, under tough conditions—contending with trucks, cars, people, everything under the sun."

Three Persons Injured in Helicopter Crash

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A helicopter used for sightseeing crashed on take-off Saturday, injuring the pilot and two passengers.

All three were reported in satisfactory condition at St. Catherine's General Hospital. They were Allen McHardy, 27, of Toronto the pilot, and Gerrard and Paul Van Herk, both of Thorold, Ont.

Police said the craft plunged down from a height of 30 feet just north of the Niagara heliport on the outskirts of the city. The cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

WAS IT YOU?

That's what SMOKEY wants to know! Was it YOU who threw the cigarette from your car or dropped your match after lighting up?

Every year careless smokers are responsible for one of every five man-caused forest fires!

When your trash fire spreads out of control, you know you've done wrong! But smokers start fires and never know it! They're gone before the fire starts!

You see, a cigar or cigarette butt is like a time bomb. It smolders for a while before the leaves or needles where it lies are warmed enough to flame. A playful breeze may help it along. Then, in no time at all, a spark you could crush under your heel has grown to be a searing, roaring demon, killing the life in its path!

Did you start a forest fire last year? Was it you?

Remember-only YOU can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

All Memberships for Community Concert Series Are Sold; Campaign Makes History

The Kingston Community Concert Association is "sold out" of 1600 memberships for next season's series of three concerts. For the first time in its 30-year history, the local concert group closed its books at the kick-off meeting for the final drive.

Artists who will be brought to Kingston for members next winter include the Pittsburgh Symphony, William Steinberg, conducting and featuring Lee Luvisi, piano soloist on Tuesday, Nov. 20; the Robert Shaw Chorale and Orchestra, Monday, Jan. 21, 1963; and Metropolitan Opera baritone, Frank Guarrera, Wednesday, April 3, 1963.

The traditional kick-off meeting for the final campaign week Sunday afternoon at the Governor Clinton Hotel became a victory dinner for the workers. John A. McCullough, president, expressed his personal appreciation to the loyal members who had renewed their subscriptions and to the board of directors and workers who so diligently enrolled subscribers during the last few days. He also expressed thanks to the media of publicity throughout the city and county. This was followed by congratulations from John Cunningham, New York representative of Community Concerts, who had come to Kingston to assist in the drive.

Miss Conway Sings

Workers attending Sunday's meeting heard Ruth Conway, young mezzo-soprano who has just returned from a year's study in Germany and Austria. She is the daughter of Mrs. Hans Cohn of Woodstock and the late Dr. Cohn and from the concensus of those attending, is one of the most promising young artists of the area.

She sang two groups, the first including a song by Pergolesi and arias from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Barber of Seville" and "Cavelleria Rusticana." Her second group of popular songs were "Summertime" from Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin; "So in Love" from "Kiss Me Kate" by Cole Porter and Vincent Youman's "Without a Song." She was accompanied by Ilse Sass, well-known pianist.

Workers were urged to make returns to headquarters in the Governor Clinton Hotel today. Mrs. Bernard Forst and Mrs. Lloyd LeFever are co-chairmen of membership for the Kingston association and Mrs. Louis Kegler is secretary. They may be contacted regarding memberships at headquarters during the day.

In addition to the officers, directors are Mrs. LeFever, Mmes. Herbert I. Bloom, Larry Bogert, Hans Cohn, Ralph Harper, Harold L. Rakov, Harry C. Seitz, Albert O. Sonnenberg, Miss Mary Keresman, Cantor Julian Lohre, Jay Rifenbary.

Arrangements for the victory meeting were made by Mrs. Bloom and Mrs. Sonnenberg.

The Rev. Joseph Mondel officiated and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Terence Keegan. Her sister, Miss Helen Keegan, was the maid of honor. Miss Joan Craven and Mrs. Mary Seidell were attendants. Salvatore Greco, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. His brother, Frank Spada, and nephew, Michael Spada were ushers.

Sawkill Auxiliary Reports Its Plans; June Banquet Set

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting in April at the firehouse. The meeting was presided over by vice president Mrs. Kenneth Dolan. The group enjoyed a short calesthenics program under leadership of physical director, Mrs. Robert Ferrigan, prior to the business discussion of the evening.

The rummage sale committee chairman reported successful returns for the sale held in April. After discussion, it was unanimously agreed to plan another rummage sale to be held in the fall. Details will be announced.

Loan closet committee chairman, Mrs. William McGinnis, reported the addition of two sets of crutches to the equipment now available for use in the community. A list of available items will be published at a later date. If anyone should need any sickroom supplies or equipment, they are requested to contact Mrs. McGinnis for information. The Auxiliary discussed the possibility of acquiring a hospital bed.

Ways and means committee member, Mrs. Douglas Dye, reported several plans are being discussed. The Auxiliary is planning to have several activities during the next several months. Tentative plans are now being made for an entertainment evening patterned on the general idea of the very popular television panel shows. Also in the planning stage is another "Family Night Supper' 'similar to the one held last year.

The annual banquet will take place on June 13. Mrs. James Tyler was appointed chairman.

To improve the fire company kitchen, the Auxiliary will purchase floor covering for the kitchen and restrooms. Mrs. Francis Joy was appointed to obtain information on various types of covering and costs. Final choice will be made at the May meeting.

Members were also asked to donate trading stamps to be used in acquiring some item for the panel show evening, or additional equipment for the firehouse.

Demonstration of the Fire Company resuscitator and inhalator was given by Fire Company president, Eugene Phillips, and fireman Wayne Burton. The resuscitator had been demonstrated some time ago by Auxiliary members Mrs. Wayne Burton and Mrs. Marvin Burton. Further demonstrations will be given from time to time in order that members will be able to use the unit in case of an emergency. The Oxygen unit has been used in the area on several occassions in the past and is considered as one of the most important items of equipment owned by the Fire Company. Refreshments were served by the April refreshment committee.

The next regular meeting will be held at the firehouse on Wednesday, May 23, at 8 p. m. All members and any other interested women of the comunity and fire district and protection area are cordially invited to attend.

Give the Word Firmly

by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: My problem is a boy I have been going steady with for quite a while. I used to like him very much, but my feelings have changed since I accepted his ring. I don't want to hurt him but it's foolish to go with someone you like less and less.

He tags along every place I go. Maybe I'm not ready to go steady yet. I've learned my lesson the hard way. I feel all hemmed in. Can you tell me how I can get the message across to him? — S. B. I.

Dear S. B. I.: It happens! Boy-meets-girl sometimes turns out to be a "friends, just friends," situation. Every boy needn't be a boy friend. It's far from kind to permit him to continue to believe that you care for him.

If you fell in and out of love with great regularity there might be reason to hang your head, but an honest change of heart in this situation is nothing to be ashamed of.

The only way to get the message across is to deliver it personally but tactfully. You don't want to hurt his feelings but you aren't ready to go steady yet. That's exactly what you should tell him. This shouldn't deflate his ego, even though it will disappoint him. Insist that it isn't fair to keep his ring. Make up your mind to be firm.

If you pick a sunny afternoon rather than an evening date for your talk, he is less likely to lead the conversation astray by bringing up memories and becoming sentimental. Keep returning to the facts: You aren't ready to go steady and need a feeling of freedom to look the world over before making serious decisions.

Since you have been spending so much time with him, you will probably bump into him often enough so the break won't seem very final. When this happens, think in terms of being an ally rather than a girl friend. Mention an attractive girl who has said something flattering about him. Help to find him a pleasant date. Comment casually about your own plans.

Teen-agers: Please send your personal problems to Kathy Peterson in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Not much was left of the wall when work men started demolition last week. The few unmarred stones were saved for another project.

Unwary drivers who fail to make the sharp turn where Route 9 enters Burt Street in the Village of Saugerties, may now continue unimpeded into the K of C front yard after clearing a highway department guard rail.

The spiked wall, a long-time adversary of highway traffic has impaled scores of passenger cars, trucks and trailers during its long history. More than a dozen mishaps were reported last year. One on July 16 took the life of Frederick Schaffer of Windham, a former resident of Malden-on-Hudson. Many other motorists and their passengers were injured in mishaps at the site.

Many times vehicles out of control never reached the wall. Some shied away and turned over to avoid contact with the formidable barrier.

The wall, it can be said, went out in a blaze of glory by scoring four separate highway mishaps within 10 days in February of this year.

Hardened newsmen will undoubtedly become slightly misty-eyed when they hear of the passing of this old friend which provided many news stories in the past decade.

Information Is Given on School Building Issue

With the $1,220,000 school bond issue coming up for a vote this Wednesday the Board of Education has released the following information for the consideration of qualified voters.

"The state will pay, not one-third, but approximately one-half of the bond issue cost. This is the estimate of local school officials after applying the new Diefendorf formula which was recently enacted by the Legislature of the State of New York. The accuracy of the estimate has been checked by conference with State Department representatives.

"Under this formula, the cost to the local taxpayers per one thousand of assessed value would be approximately $3.75 instead of approximately $5 as had been previously estimated under the old state aid formula.

The bonds would be paid off over a period of 30 years. It is anticipated by local school officials that the interest rate should not exceed 3½ per cent.

"State aid is paid each year over the 30 year period to help retire one or more bonds and to pay interest on those still due. A table of payment is prepared by the bonding company that provides for almost equal payments over the 30 year period.

"Approximately one-half of the properties in the Saugerties Central School District are assessed at $1200 or less."

Voting will take place at the Main Street School auditorium between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m. Voting will be by machine.

Teacher Will Be Honored by P-TA Group on May 16

The final meeting of the Saugerties Central Schools Parent-Teachers Association will honor Miss N. Leona Hogan at the high school Wednesday, May 16, at 8 p. m.

Head of the math department at Saugerties High School, Miss Hogan will retire in June. She has taught in Saugerties for 28 years.

Whereas the committee in charge originally decided to surprise Miss Hogan, it now feels that through publication of the meeting many more parents, teachers and friends will turn out for the occasion.

Born in Oxford, Miss Hogan received her BA degree from Mt. Holyoke, Mass., where she majored in math and minored in Latin. Her first teaching experiences were in Foxcraft, Me., and in Leonardsville, N. Y.

In 1934 Miss Hogan came to Saugerties to teach math. She became head of the math department in 1936, a position which she has held to the present time. In 1942 she received her MA degree from New York University.

Among her activities have been the examing of regents papers and the making of algebra finals for the State of New York, the taking of the school census and the tutoring of students. Miss Hogan is very active in mathematical organizations at the state level.

Her extra-curricular activities in the high school include advisor to the senior class, an honor bestowed upon Miss Hogan each year from 1936 to 1962, and advisor to Sigma Club, a service club which she founded.

Miss Hogan has been very active in the local teachers' association of which she is a charter member and in the P-TA of which she is a life member.

Mrs. Howard France, P-TA president, announces that Mrs. William Jacobs is planning a program to honor Miss Hogan. All interested persons may attend the event May 16.

SHS Clubs Aid Clothing Drive

The annual drive for used clothing for the Save the Children Federation has begun in the Saugerties High School and is being conducted by the Sigma Club with the assistance of the Boys' Hi-Y.

Everyone is being asked to contribute good wearable used clothing and shoes, both summer and winter wear, and arrange to have it at the school during the next two weeks. The participating students of the Bundle Days project will collect the articles each morning throughout the school and prepare it for shipment to the federation center where it is sorted for distribution to the needy southern mountain children and their parents, and other children around the world.

This is the 20th annual Bundle Days used clothing collection sponsored by the federation, which is a non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political organization dedicated to helping needy children in the United States and in many free nations overseas.

Saugerties High School has participated in this cause annually and asks the cooperation of area residents in making this year's collection a success.

Local Church Guild Plans Coming Events

The Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Saugerties Reformed Church met Wednesday evening, in the parish room of the church. Mrs. James Abbott, newly appointed spiritual life chairman was in charge of devotions.

Announcement was made of the service of gradulation for the Class of 1962 from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. This will be held May 24 at 11 a. m. in Kirkpatrick Chapel of Rutgers University, and will be followed at 1:15 p. m. by the Women's Auxiliary luncheon in the Second Reformed Church, College Avenue. Anyone planning to attend the service and luncheon may call Mrs. Robert M. Freligh by May 15.

The Guild voted to send the annual contribution to the Women's Auxiliary of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The response to the request for the towels for the kitchen shelf was a generous one. Mrs. Jack Pakanen is in charge of taking inventory of the kitchen equipment and will replenish the necessary articles.

The program for the evening was arranged by Mrs. LeRoy Snyder. Mrs. James Kellerhouse assisted her in showing a film entitled Every Man and Nation. The film dealt with the spreading of gospel by the disciples of Christ up to the present day missionaries who travel to far away places continuing the work of the early disciples.

Spoor and Haines Rap 2326 Series On Final Shift

Spoor and Haines Electric of Poughkeepsie moved into first place in the Class C team standings in the 29th annual New York State Women's Bowling tournament over the weekend.

Only two other major changes took place. In Class A team, J and P Bowling Supplies of Jamaica, shot 2665, good for third place. The Long Island hotshots were led by Irene Lowe with 614 and Lucille Backhus, a former singles champion, with 574.

The other major change was in the Class B doubles where the team of Carol Schaveh and Jenny Brandon of Brewster moved into fourth place with 1015 pins.

Leading the assault was Irene Avello. She fired 152, 174 and 191 for 517. Frances Brower made 477, Stella Smith 472, Lillian Versace 467 and Mary Johnson 393. Games were 780, 760 and 786.

Tournament action heads towards the homestretch with only three weekends of activity remaining. Several of the best keglers in the state will be rolling this weekend and the A division standings, which haven't had much change in the past several weeks, may be in for a big shakeup this time.

Musial Plays In Both Games, Slams Homer

CINCINNATI (AP)—"That Musial."

That was Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson's cryptic comment Sunday after "The Man" hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning of the second game of a doubleheader to give St. Louis a 3-0 victory.

It was the first time since 1959 that Musial had played two complete games on the same day. He also bettered the 45-year-old record of Honus Wagner for the number of games played. The Musial record now is 2,787.

Late Homer Gives Geneva 5-4 Win

With two out and two on in the bottom of the ninth Sunday night, Ray Jobes did what every pinch-hitter dreams of. He connected with a fast ball down the middle and parked it in right field for a three-run homer.

Jobes' blast gave Geneva a 5-4 victory over Jamestown and third place in the New York - Penn Baseball League. Geneva, on the rebound after a slow start, bombed Batavia Saturday, 8-1, as manager Karl Kuehl rapped a two-run homer.

Auburn held onto first place with a 7-4 triumph over Batavia Sunday night, getting some sparkling relief pitching from righthander Bunk Warren, who struck out eight batters in 2 2-3 innings. Erie at Olean was rained out.

M and M Boys Hitting Again; Mays Celebrates a Birthday

Mantle Wallops Three Long Ones In Nat Split

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was (ho-hum) business at the same old stand for baseball's most prolific one-two punch.

New York's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, the Yankees' famed M and M boys, put on their most awesome power display of the season Sunday as the American League leaders split a double header with Washington.

They hit back-to back home runs in the first inning of the second game and finished the long afternoon with a total of seven hits, six runs, two doubles, four home runs, seven runs batted in and 21 total bases. Maris also chipped in with a fantastic, leaping catch that robbed the Senators' Ken Retzer of a homer in the first game.

Nats Win Opener

It wasn't enough to make it a sweep, however, as the Senators came up with a three-run burst in the eighth inning of the opener and won it 4-2. The Yanks romped 8-0 in the nightcap.

The split cut the Yanks' lead to 1½ games over Cleveland and Minnesota, winners of single games. Cleveland beat Kansas City 5-1 and Bernie Allen's ninth-inning homer brought Minnesota a 10-7 victory over Detroit. Chicago and Boston split, the Red Sox winning the first 3-2, the White Sox the second 5-3. Los Angeles bombed Baltimore 15-7.

A three-run rally in the eighth, featuring Gene Woodling's pinch hit homer, Jimmy Piersall's double, an error and two sacrifices, allowed Washington's Dave Stenhouse to win his first big league start in the opener. Rookie Jim Bouton shut out the Senators on seven hits in the second.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, on a weekend pass from the Army, shut out Kansas City on three hits for six innings, before giving way to Sam McDowell and Bob Allen. A three-run homer by Willie Kirkland was the key blow as the Indians handed Norm Bass his fourth straight loss.

Detroit Bows Again

Allen, a Minnesota rookie bonus boy from Purdue, slammed a three-run homer into the rightfield bleachers with one out in the bottom of the ninth as Detroit lost its fifth straight.

Chicago veteran Turk Lown struck out three men in a row, chopped off a three-run Boston rally in the ninth, and preserved the White Sox' nightcap victory. The Red Sox had the potential tying run on first with none out when Lown, the fourth Chicago pitcher of the inning, came on to put out the fire and save it for rookie Joel Horlen.

Los Angeles banged out 19 hits off six Baltimore pitchers in their fourth straight victory. Angel hitting heros included Lee Thomas with four singles, a double and four RBI and Bob Rodgers with two doubles and two singles and three RBI. Brooks Robinson had a grandslam homer for the losers.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays, the bubbling "Say Hey Kid" of yesteryear, is a frisky 31-year-old, leading the major leagues with 10 home runs.

Mays celebrated — and celebrated is the word for it — his birthday Sunday in Chicago with three hits, including a two-run homer, in San Francisco's 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Until Willie got hot, critics were comparing him unfavorably with the Giants' "Baby Bull," Orlando Cepeda. On the night of April 27, Mays was hitting a sick .211.

In a rollicking 10-game streak, Willie hammered out 17 hits in 37 trips, hit six homers and drove in 16 runs while traveling at a .459 pace. His average now is a respectable .309.

Sunday was sort of an impromptu oldtimers' day in the National League, a day for the old folks to show the youngsters a thing or two.

Stan Musial, 41, heading down the stretch in his fabulous career, hit a three-run homer that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-0 verdict over Cincinnati after the Reds had beaten them in the opener 5-4. Musial hit his homer in his 2,787th game, a league record.

Another for Spahn

Warren Spahn, another 41-year-old youngster, boosted his amazing winning total to 312 games by pitching Milwaukee to a 3-2 victory over Houston in the first game. Dick Farrell, relief man turned starter, evened matters for Houston by going the route for a 9-1 decision in the second game.

Gil Hodges, 38, another member of the old folks brigade, came through with a single with the bases loaded in the 12th inning for a 7-5 New York Mets' victory at Philadelphia. A scheduled second game was postponed because of the Sunday curfew which prohibits starting a game in Pennsylvania after 6:40.

Stan Hitting .375

Musial boosted his average to .375 while increasing his career total to 3,425 hits, only five short of Honus Wagner's league record. Hit No. 3,425 was the three-run homer that broke up a 0-0 battle between Bob Gibson of the Cards and Moe Drabowsky of the Reds. Cincinnati's victory margin in the opener came on a wild pitch by relief man Don Ferrarese.

Spahn gave up eight hits while balancing his season record at 3-3 by beating Jim Golden. Del Crandall, Spahn's old battery mate, won the game with a homer in the fourth. Farrell pitched his first complete game in seven seasons in the majors and struck out 11 while throwing a four-hitter at the Braves in the second game.

Hodges' two-run single broke a five-game Phillie winning streak and ended a four-game losing strin by the Mets. Although Hodges' hit came off Art Mahaffey, the defeat was charged to Jack Baldschun who had loaded the bases on two walks and a single. Craig Anderson was the winner.

Mets Get Mizell

Bobby Shantz Traded By Houston to Cards

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The diminutive left-hander was swapped to the St. Louis Cardinals by the Houston Colts Sunday as major league rosters went through a bit of shuffling. Shantz went to the Cards for outfielder Carl Warwick and right-handed reliever John Anderson.

The busiest team of the lot was the New York Mets, which made two deals involving third baseman Don Zimmer, first baseman Jim Marshall and southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell. The Mets gave up Marshall to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Mizell and traded Zimmer to the Cincinnati Reds for third baseman Cliff Cook and left-handed pitcher Bob Miller.

Shantz, 36, and in his 14th big league season, was voted MVP of the American League in 1952 when he had a 24-7 record with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Warwick is a 25-year-old ex-Los Angeles Dodger used as an extra outfielder and pinch batter by the Cards. Anderson, 29, had an 0-0 record with St. Louis in five relief appearances.

Mizell was a front-liner for the Cardinals for several years before going to the Pirates in midseason of 1960. He helped Pittsburgh to the pennant that year, finishing with a 14-8 mark. The 31-year-old lefty was 7-10 last season and 1-1 so far.

Cook was most valuable player in the American Association last season, when he batted .311 with 32 homers and 119 runs batted in for Indianapolis.

Miller—the second Bob Miller among Met pitchers—relieved in six games for Cincinnati this year with no decisions.

Zimmer was a shining light for the Mets in pre-season work but has been in a horrible slump, showing only one hit in his last 38 at bats and a .077 average.

Spoor and Haines Rap 2326 Series On Final Shift

Spoor and Haines Electric of Poughkeepsie moved into first place in the Class C team standings in the 29th annual New York State Women's Bowling tournament over the weekend.

The Bridge City squad highlighted an otherwise uneventful weekend with a neat 2326 series, well above the previous high of 2258, rolled by the Ball "N" Chain five of Cairo.

Only two other major changes took place. In Class A team, J and P Bowling Supplies of Jamaica, shot 2665, good for third place. The Long Island hotshots were led by Irene Lowe with 614 and Lucille Backhus, a former singles champion, with 574.

The other major change was in the Class B doubles where the team of Carol Schaveh and Jenny Brandon of Brewster moved into fourth place with 1015 pins.

Spoor and Haines Electric rolled on Lanes 5-6 at the Bowlero and the team swept into first place on the final shift of the weeknd.

Leading the assault was Irene Avello. She fired 152, 174 and 191 for 517. Frances Brower made 477, Stella Smith 472, Lillian Versace 467 and Mary Johnson 393. Games were 780, 760 and 786.

There were no changes at the top of the standings in the other divisions.

Tournament action heads towards the homestretch with only three weekends of activity remaining. Several of the best keglers in the state will be rolling this weekend and the A division standings, which haven't had much change in the past several weeks, may be in for a big shakeup this time.

Late Homer Gives Geneva 5-4 Win

With two out and two on in the bottom of the ninth Sunday night, Ray Jobes did what every pinch-hitter dreams of. He connected with a fast ball down the middle and parked it in right field for a three-run homer.

Jobes' blast gave Geneva a 5-4 victory over Jamestown and third place in the New York - Penn Baseball League. Geneva, on the rebound after a slow start, bombed Batavia Saturday, 8-1, as manager Karl Kuehl rapped a two-run homer.

Auburn held onto first place with a 7-4 triumph over Batavia Sunday night, getting some sparkling relief pitching from righthander Bunk Warren, who struck out eight batters in 2 2-3 innings. Erie at Olean was rained out.

Musial Plays In Both Games, Slams Homer

CINCINNATI (AP)—"That Musial."

That was Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson's cryptic comment Sunday after "The Man" hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning of the second game of a doubleheader to give St. Louis a 3-0 victory.

It was the first time since 1959 that Musial had played two complete games on the same day. He also bettered the 45-year-old record of Honus Wagner for the number of games played. The Musial record now is 2,787.

M and M Boys Hitting Again; Mays Celebrates a Birthday

Mantle Wallops Three Long Ones In Nat Split

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was (ho-hum) business at the same old stand for baseball's most prolific one-two punch.

New York's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, the Yankees' famed M and M boys, put on their most awesome power display of the season Sunday as the American League leaders split a double header with Washington.

They hit back-to-back home runs in the first inning of the second game and finished the long afternoon with a total of seven hits, six runs, two doubles, four home runs, seven runs batted in and 21 total bases. Maris also chipped in with a fantastic, leaping catch that robbed the Senators' Ken Retzer of a homer in the first game.

Nats Win Opener

It wasn't enough to make it a sweep, however, as the Senators came up with a three-run burst in the eighth inning of the opener and won it 4-2. The Yanks romped 8-0 in the nightcap.

The split cut the Yanks' lead to 1½ games over Cleveland and Minnesota, winners of single games. Cleveland beat Kansas City 5-1 and Bernie Allen's ninth-inning homer brought Minnesota a 10-7 victory over Detroit. Chicago and Boston split, the Red Sox winning the first 3-2, the White Sox the second 5-3. Los Angeles bombed Baltimore 15-7.

A three-run rally in the eighth, featuring Gene Woodling's pinch hit homer, Jimmy Piersall's double, an error and two sacrifices, allowed Washington's Dave Stenhouse to win his first big league start in the opener. Rookie Jim Bouton shut out the Senators on seven hits in the second.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, on a weekend pass from the Army, shut out Kansas City on three hits for six innings, before giving way to Sam McDowell and Bob Allen. A three-run homer by Willie Kirkland was the key blow as the Indians handed Norm Bass his fourth straight loss.

Detroit Bows Again

Allen, a Minnesota rookie bonus boy from Purdue, slammed a three-run homer into the rightfield bleachers with one out in the bottom of the ninth as Detroit lost its fifth straight.

Chicago veteran Turk Lown struck out three men in a row, chopped off a three-run Boston rally in the ninth, and preserved the White Sox' nightcap victory. The Red Sox had the potential tying run on first with none out when Lown, the fourth Chicago pitcher of the inning, came on to put out the fire and save it for rookie Joel Horlen.

Los Angeles banged out 19 hits off six Baltimore pitchers in their fourth straight victory. Angel hitting heros included Lee Thomas with four singles, a double and four RBI and Bob Rodgers with two doubles and two singles and three RBI. Brooks Robinson had a grandslam homer for the losers.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mays celebrated — and celebrated is the word for it — his birthday Sunday in Chicago with three hits, including a two-run homer, in San Francisco's 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Until Willie got hot, critics were comparing him unfavorably with the Giants' "Baby Buli," Orlando Cepeda. On the night of April 27, Mays was hitting a sick .211.

In a rollicking 10-game streak, Willie hammered out 17 hits in 37 trips, hit six homers and drove in 16 runs while traveling at a .459 pace. His average now is a respectable .309.

Sunday was sort of an impromptu oldtimers' day in the National League, a day for the old folks to show the youngsters a thing or two.

Stan Musial, 41, heading down the stretch in his fabulous career, hit a three-run homer that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-0 verdict over Cincinnati after the Reds had beaten them in the opener 5-4.

Another for Spahn

Warren Spahn, another 41-year-old youngster, boosted his amazing winning total to 312 games by pitching Milwaukee to a 3-2 victory over Houston in the first game. Dick Farrell, relief man turned starter, evened matters for Houston by going the route for a 9-1 decision in the second game.

Gil Hodges, 38, another member of the old folks brigade, came through with a single with the bases loaded in the 12th inning for a 7-5 New York Mets' victory at Philadelphia. A scheduled second game was postponed because of the Sunday curfew which prohibits starting a game in Pennsylvania after 6:40.

After playing an inning at Pittsburgh, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Pirates had to call off their game because of rain.

Stan Hitting .375

Musial boosted his average to .375 while increasing his career total to 3,425 hits, only five short of Honus Wagner's league record. Hit No. 3,425 was the three-run homer that broke up a 0-0 battle between Bob Gibson of the Cards and Moe Drabowsky of the Reds. Cincinnati's victory margin in the opener came on a wild pitch by relief man Don Ferrarese.

Spahn gave up eight hits while balancing his season record at 3-3 by beating Jim Golden. Del Crandall, Spahn's old battery mate, won the game with a homer in the fourth. Farrell pitched his first complete game in seven seasons in the majors and struck out 11 while throwing a four-hitter at the Braves in the second game.

Hodges' two-run single broke a five-game Phillie winning streak and ended a four-game losing strin by the Mets. Although Hodges' hit came off Art Mahaffey, the defeat was charged to Jack Baldschun who had loaded the bases on two walks and a single. Craig Anderson was the winner.

Mets Get Mizell

Bobby Shantz Traded By Houston to Cards

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The diminutive left-hander was swapped to the St. Louis Cardinals by the Houston Colts Sunday as major league rosters went through a bit of shuffling. Shantz went to the Cards for outfielder Carl Warwick and right-handed reliever John Anderson.

The busiest team of the lot was the New York Mets, which made two deals involving third baseman Don Zimmer, first baseman Jim Marshall and southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell. The Mets gave up Marshall to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Mizell and traded Zimmer to the Cincinnati Reds for third baseman Cliff Cook and left-handed pitcher Bob Miller.

Shantz, 36, and in his 14th big league season, was voted MVP of the American League in 1952 when he had a 24-7 record with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Warwick is a 25-year-old ex-Los Angeles Dodger used as an extra outfielder and pinch batter by the Cards. Anderson, 29, had an 0-0 record with St. Louis in five relief appearances.

Mizell was a front-liner for the Cardinals for several years before going to the Pirates in midseason of 1960. He helped Pittsburgh to the pennant that year, finishing with a 14-8 mark. The 31-year-old lefty was 7-10 last season and 1-1 so far.

Cook was most valuable player in the American Association last season, when he batted .311 with 32 homers and 119 runs batted in for Indianapolis.

Miller—the second Bob Miller among Met pitchers—relieved in six games for Cincinnati this year with no decisions.

Zimmer was a shining light for the Mets in pre-season work but has been in a horrible slump, showing only one hit in his last 38 at bats and a .077 average.

McNamara Pair Bridge Winners

Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara, Hurley, posted a 62% game on the North-South side as the Wiltwyck Duplicate Bridge Club held its regular biweekly game at the Stuyvesant Kingston Hotel. On the East-West side, Miss Dorothy Maroon and Joseph Pechloff of Kingston turned in a fine 63% game for top honors.

Second on the North-South side went to Walter Daumann, Pine Hills and Herbert Gertner, Kingston, with a 59% game. Third went to Joseph Mautner and Philip Harris, Kingston, with a 56% game.

On the East-West side, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baggot, Kingston, had a 61% game and Milton Dubin and Stanley Kaplan, Kingston, were third with a 56% game.

Sports Club Booters Earn 7-0 League Win

Locals Have Easy Tilt at Poughkeepsie;; Are Home on Sunday

Despite the absence of two regulars, the Kingston Sports Club retained its first place lead in the Central New York State Soccer League yesterday with a 7-0 triumph over the Poughkeepsie K of C at the Bridge City diamond.

In other league games, Albany Sport Club remainned in second with a 3-0 verdict over the Schenectady Sons of Italy and Troy Sports Club blanked the Schenectady Football Club by the same score.

Kingston controlled play in the second half and the locals upped the lead to 6-0 when Reiner Schwebel converted a pass from manager Bob Graves into a goal. Graves, who did a bang-up job as a fiill in for one of the injured players, tallied the final goal of the game.

WINS MASTERS—Billy Golembiewski, Detroit member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff, rolled a record 223 average for 28 games to become the second bowler ever to win two ABC Masters championships. He previously won in 1960 and thus joins Dick Hoover, who captured the title in 1956 and 1957.

Even a No-Hitter

Angels Have Good Weekend Against Baltimore Orioles

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It could hardly have been a better weekend for the Los Angeles Angels if they had acquired Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris for three box tops and 10 cents in coin.

The Angels swept their three-game series with Baltimore, which in itself may provoke demands that they be quarantined. But the thing that really made their adventures look like something out of Little Orphan Annie was the manner in which they turned the trick.

Bo Belinsky, a rookie left-hander who had only one winning season after six years in the minors, pitched the first American League no-hitter since 1958 as the Angels beat the Orioles 2-0 Saturday night.

Sunday the Angeles accumulated the improbable sum of 19 hits and belted the Orioles 15-7. Friday they came from behind twice for a 5-4 victory.

But if the Angels had come up with 19 hits in one inning they couldn't have made inroads on the saloon gossip about Robert Belinsky and his discovery of instant success.

Belinsky, a 25-year-old New York native who makes his home in Trenton, N.J., is not exactly the guy the President had in mind when he started his youth fitness program.

Only One Winning Season

When he finally made the move to outdoor sports, it looked as though he might become the most disorganized man in organized baseball. He had his only winning season in the minors in 1957, when he won 13 and lost 6 for Pensacola, Fla.—then in the Baltimore farm system.

Belinsky, drafted by the Angels last December from Rochester, turned up at spring training camp with a wardrobe of monogrammed sweaters and suede shoes. He looked like something that fell out of a Damon Runyon street scene, and he talked even louder than he dressed.

First off, he became a holdout, refusing to sign a $6,000 contract. Then, when he finally capitulated at that figure, he wouldn't let anybody tell him anything about pitching.

That is, not until he made several brief exhibition appearances against Houston and gave up 23 runs in 14 innings. Then he decided to ask pitching coach Marv Grissom what it was all about.

Saturday night he worked his way out of two early jams and finished with a flourish, retiring the last 10 Baltimore hitters in order. He struck out nine, walked four and hit two batters.

It was his fourth victory in four starts and his second complete game. His earned-run average dropped to 1.53.

Belinsky is the first man to pitch a major league no-hitter in Los Angeles and the first to do it against the Orioles in their nine years as an American League team. He was the first to pitch an American League no-hitter since Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore did it against the New York Yankees Sept. 20, 1958.

Boxing Roundup

Johnson, Jones Slated For Title Bout Saturday

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lone dispute over the world light heavyweight championship will be virtually settled Saturday night in Philadelphia.

Harold Johnson, the NBA champion from Philadelphia, will meet Doug Jones of New York in a 15-round title fight that will be recognized by New York and probably by most of the world's boxing commissions.

The bout will be held at the Arena and will be telecast (9 p.m., EST, ABC-TV) nationally. A 90-mile area around Philadelphia will be blacked out of the telecast.

The NBA stripped Archie Moore of the title for failure to defend and Johnson gained that organization's recognition by stopping Jesse Bowdry in the ninth round at Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 7, 1961. In two title defenses the Philadelphian knocked out Von Clay and outpointed Eddie Cotton.

Johnson, winner of his last 16 fights since 1956, is an 8-5 choice over the once-beaten Jones. The 33-year-old champion, a pro 16 years, has a 67-8 record, including 31 knockouts. Jones, 25, a pro less than four years, has a 19-1 record. The defeat was at the hands of Eddie Machen, the No. 2 heavyweight contender, in Mimai Beach Fla., Dec. 2. Johnson was to have fought Jones that night but pulled out because of a foot injury.

Luis Rodriguez had a shining victory streak of six today but nothing in sight immediately.

Although the Cuban emigre, now living in Miami, Fla., is the No. 2 welterweight contender, he is willing to fight any of the top men in his class or the heavier middleweight division.

"I want to keep busy and make some money," said the 25-year-old Rodriguez.

He beat middleweight Yama Bahama for the second time Saturday night when he stopped the 29-year-old veteran from the Bahamas on cuts in three rounds at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Dr. Harry Kleiman, the ringside physician, ordered the television 10-rounder halted after the third ended because of deep gashes over both of Yama's eyes. Under New York rules it was recorded as a three round technical knockout.

Trainers Complaining About Condition of Derby Track

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Decidedly, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby in record time, led the exit from Churchill Downs today amid controversy, almost bitter at times, over the hardness of the track.

Decidedly skimmed over the Downs racing strip Saturday in 2:00 2-5 for 1¼ miles, clipping a full second off Whirlaway's standard of 2:01 2-5 that had stood since 1941. Decidedly finished 2¼ lengths in front of another surprise, Roman Line, who beat by a neck in a photo finish.

Like Concrete

"It was like running over a concrete highway," said Moody, who also is a trainer. "At least five horses broke the record. You can't tell me there were five horses in that race better than Whirlaway."

"It was the hardest track I ever had seen, including the ones in California," he said.

Tom Kelly, apparently none too pleased by the ride given Sunrise County by Willie Shoemaker, took the other side of the controversy.

"The track was O.K. for me," he said. "We came to run on a fast track and we got it." Sunrise County wound up fifth after setting a burning pace of 1:10 1-5 through the first 6 furlongs.

"No horse can go a mile and a quarter after traveling the first quarter in 22 and some change," said Kelly. "He has got to come back.' Without saying so, he made it plain that he thought Shoemaker should have held Sunrise County off the fast early pace.

Wathen Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs, declared no special effort was made for the hard track.

"We do not believe in records," said Knebelkamp. "We just want a safe track."

There was no gripe from Horatio Luro, the dashing Argentine who had Decidedly at his peak for the big race. He wasn't even around for the post mortums, leaving for Lexington, Ky., shortly after accepting congratulations.

A Perfect Ride

"Bill (Hartack) followed my instructions to a letter," said Luro via the telephone. "I showed him pictures of how Carry Back came from far back last year and told him over the last 20 years the last quarter-mile of the Derby had been run in around 25 seconds."

Luro said he figured Decidedly could run the last quarter in around 24 seconds. He caught his colt in 24 1-5 seconds as Decidedly moved up from fifth place at the mile, took over third one-eighth of a mile from the finish and then pulled away in the final sixteenth.

When Whirlaway established the old mark he was caught in 23 3-5 seconds for the last quarter. He also was trailing the leaders at that point but went on to score by eight lengths.

Palmer Gets Birdie On 18th to Win Crown

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The popular belter from Latrobe, Pa., pointed toward the Fort Worth, Tex., next weekend after hauling in the $11,000 winner's purse in the $50,000 Tournament of Champions.

Palmer, 3-time Masters and former National Open king, did it with rounds of 69-70-69-68—276. The knockout punch came with Palmer suddenness on the final hole Sunday. He holed a 24-foot putt for a birdie three that broke a dead-heat duel with his close friend, Billy Casper Jr.

Casper, playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., got his par and matching 68 but had to settle for a 72-hole score of 277 and $5,800.

Casper had a 33-35 for the par 36-36—72 Desert Inn Country Club course. He batted six birdies and after the 11th hole of the final round was actually in front by two strokes.

But Palmer knocked out six birdies and sank a 35-foot chip shot for an eagle three on the fifth and couldn't be contained.

It was Palmer's fifth tournament win of the ye and his first in seven attempts to bag this desert classic. He has won $52,308 this year.

Sports Club Booters Earn 7-0 League Win

Locals Have Easy Tilt at Poughkeepsie;; Are Home on Sunday

Despite the absence of two regulars, the Kingston Sports Club retained its first place lead in the Central New York State Soccer League yesterday with a 7-0 triumph over the Poughkeepsie K of C at the Bridge City diamond.

In other league games, Albany Sport Club remainned in second with a 3-0 verdict over the Schenectady Sons of Italy and Troy Sports Club blanked the Schenectady Football Club by the same score.

Captain George Vizvary started the locals off on the right foot by making a penalty shot in the first quarter. Later in the period, Toni Alexander converted a pass from Al Dirks for a second goal and minutes later, Al DiBella booted in an Al Miller corner kick for the third goal.

Kingston controlled play in the second half and the locals upped the lead to 6-0 when Reiner Schwebel converted a pass from manager Bob Graves into a goal. Graves, who did a bang-up job as a fiill in for one of the injured players, tallied the final goal of the game.

The home side had a penalty shot in the closing minutes of play but the kick hit the post.

Angels Have Good Weekend Against Baltimore Orioles

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It could hardly have been a better weekend for the Los Angeles Angels if they had acquired Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris for three box tops and 10 cents in coin.

The Angels swept their three-game series with Baltimore, which in itself may provoke demands that they be quarantined. But the thing that really made their adventures look like something out of Little Orphan Annie was the manner in which they turned the trick.

Bo Belinsky, a rookie left-hander who had only one winning season after six years in the minors, pitched the first American League no-hitter since 1958 as the Angels beat the Orioles 2-0 Saturday night.

Sunday the Angeles accumulated the improbable sum of 19 hits and belted the Orioles 15-7. Friday they came from behind twice for a 5-4 victory.

But if the Angels had come up with 19 hits in one inning they couldn't have made inroads on the saloon gossip about Robert Belinsky and his discovery of instant success.

Belinsky, a 25-year-old New York native who makes his home in Trenton, N.J., is not exactly the guy the President had in mind when he started his youth fitness program.

Only One Winning Season

When he finally made the move to outdoor sports, it looked as though he might become the most disorganized man in organized baseball. He had his only winning season in the minors in 1957, when he won 13 and lost 6 for Pensacola, Fla.—then in the Baltimore farm system.

Belinsky, drafted by the Angels last December from Rochester, turned up at spring training camp with a wardrobe of monogrammed sweaters and suede shoes. He looked like something that fell out of a Damon Runyon street scene, and he talked even louder than he dressed.

First off, he became a holdout, refusing to sign a $6,000 contract. Then, when he finally capitulated at that figure, he wouldn't let anybody tell him anything about pitching.

That is, not until he made several brief exhibition appearances against Houston and gave up 23 runs in 14 innings. Then he decided to ask pitching coach Marv Grissom what it was all about.

Saturday night he worked his way out of two early jams and finished with a flourish, retiring the last 10 Baltimore hitters in order. He struck out nine, walked four and hit two batters.

It was his fourth victory in four starts and his second complete game. His earned-run average dropped to 1.53.

Belinsky is the first man to pitch a major league no-hitter in Los Angeles and the first to do it against the Orioles in their nine years as an American League team. He was the first to pitch an American League no-hitter since Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore did it against the New York Yankees Sept. 20, 1958.

Boxing Roundup

Johnson, Jones Slated For Title Bout Saturday

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The lone dispute over the world light heavyweight championship will be virtually settled Saturday night in Philadelphia.

Harold Johnson, the NBA champion from Philadelphia, will meet Doug Jones of New York in a 15-round title fight that will be recognized by New York and probably by most of the world's boxing commissions.

The bout will be held at the Arena and will be telecast (9 p.m., EST, ABC-TV) nationally. A 90-mile area around Philadelphia will be blacked out of the telecast.

The NBA stripped Archie Moore of the title for failure to defend and Johnson gained that organization's recognition by stopping Jesse Bowdry in the ninth round at Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 7, 1961. In two title defenses the Philadelphian knocked out Von Clay and outpointed Eddie Cotton.

Johnson, winner of his last 16 fights since 1956, is an 8-5 choice over the once-beaten Jones. The 33-year-old champion, a pro 16 years, has a 67-8 record, including 31 knockouts. Jones, 25, a pro less than four years, has a 19-1 record. The defeat was at the hands of Eddie Machen, the No. 2 heavyweight contender, in Mimai Beach Fla., Dec. 2. Johnson was to have fought Jones that night but pulled out because of a foot injury.

Luis Rodriguez had a shining victory streak of six today but nothing in sight immediately.

Although the Cuban emigre, now living in Miami, Fla., is the No. 2 welterweight contender, he is willing to fight any of the top men in his class or the heavier middleweight division.

"I want to keep busy and make some money," said the 25-year-old Rodriguez.

He beat middleweight Yama Bahama for the second time Saturday night when he stopped the 29-year-old veteran from the Bahamas on cuts in three rounds at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Dr. Harry Kleiman, the ringside physician, ordered the television 10-rounder halted after the third ended because of deep gashes over both of Yama's eyes. Under New York rules it was recorded as a three round technical knockout.

Trainers Complaining About Condition of Derby Track

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Decidedly, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby in record time, led the exit from Churchill Downs today amid controversy, almost bitter at times, over the hardness of the track.

Decidedly skimmed over the Downs racing strip Saturday in 2:00 2-5 for 1¼ miles, clipping a full second off Whirlaway's standard of 2:01 2-5 that had stood since 1941. Decidedly finished 2¼ lengths in front of another surprise, Roman Line, who beat by a neck in a photo finish.

Like Concrete

"It was like running over a concrete highway," said Moody, who also is a trainer. "At least five horses broke the record. You can't tell me there were five horses in that race better than Whirlaway."

Trainer Ron McAnally, whose Donut King was kept out of the race with a slight ankle injury, said he was glad his horse wasn't in the race.

"It was the hardest track I ever had seen, including the ones in California," he said.

Tom Kelly, apparently none too pleased by the ride given Sunrise County by Willie Shoemaker, took the other side of the controversy.

"The track was O.K. for me," he said. "We came to run on a fast track and we got it." Sunrise County wound up fifth after setting a burning pace of 1:10 1-5 through the first 6 furlongs.

"No horse can go a mile and a quarter after traveling the first quarter in 22 and some change," said Kelly. "He has got to come back.' Without saying so, he made it plain that he thought Shoemaker should have held Sunrise County off the fast early pace.

Wathen Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs, declared no special effort was made for the hard track.

"We do not believe in records," said Knebelkamp. "We just want a safe track."

There was no gripe from Horatio Luro, the dashing Argentine who had Decidedly at his peak for the big race. He wasn't even around for the post mortums, leaving for Lexington, Ky., shortly after accepting congratulations.

A Perfect Ride

"Bill (Hartack) followed my instructions to a letter," said Luro via the telephone. "I showed him pictures of how Carry Back came from far back last year and told him over the last 20 years the last quarter-mile of the Derby had been run in around 25 seconds."

Luro said he figured Decidedly could run the last quarter in around 24 seconds. He caught his colt in 24 1-5 seconds as Decidedly moved up from fifth place at the mile, took over third one-eighth of a mile from the finish and then pulled away in the final sixteenth.

When Whirlaway established the old mark he was caught in 23 3-5 seconds for the last quarter. He also was trailing the leaders at that point but went on to score by eight lengths.

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The popular belter from Latrobe, Pa., pointed toward the Fort Worth, Tex., next weekend after hauling in the $11,000 winner's purse in the $50,000 Tournament of Champions.

Palmer, 3-time Masters and former National Open king, did it with rounds of 69-70-69-68—276. The knockout punch came with Palmer suddenness on the final hole Sunday. He holed a 24-foot putt for a birdie three that broke a dead-heat duel with his close friend, Billy Casper Jr.

Casper, playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., got his par and matching 68 but had to settle for a 72-hole score of 277 and $5,800.

Casper had a 33-35 for the par 36-36—72 Desert Inn Country Club course. He batted six birdies and after the 11th hole of the final round was actually in front by two strokes.

But Palmer knocked out six birdies and sank a 35-foot chip shot for an eagle three on the fifth and couldn't be contained.

It was Palmer's fifth tournament win of the ye and his first in seven attempts to bag this desert classic. He has won $52,308 this year.

BOND RESOLUTION
DATED MAY 2, 1962.

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE ACQUISITION OF CERTAIN REAL PROPERTY FOR USE AS A SCHOOL SITE IN AND FOR THE CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK, AT A MAXIMUM ESTIMATED COST OF $9,250, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $9,250 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT TO PAY THE COST THEREOF.

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Education of the City School District of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. The acquisition of the real property hereinafter described for use as a school site for a new elementary school building in and for the City School District of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, is hereby authorized at a maximum estimated cost of $9,250. Such real property, presently owned by the City of Kingston, New York, consists of approximately 3.165 acres, fronting on Gross Street and forming a part of Hasbroucck Park in said City, and is more fully described in a survey prepared by Brinnier and Larios, Engineers, dated February 9, 1961, now on file in the office of the School District Clerk.

Section 2. The plan for the financing of such maximum estimated cost is by the issuance of $9,250 serial bonds of said City School District, hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the Local Finance Law.

Section 3. It is hereby determined that subdivision 21(a) of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to the aforesaid specific object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is thirty years; provided, however, that the maximum maturity of the serial bonds herein authorized shall not exceed ten years, to be computed from the date of said bonds or the date of the first bond anticipation note issued in anticipation thereof, whichever date is the earlier.

Section 4. The faith and credit of said City School District of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such bonds as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds becoming due and payable in such year. Section 5. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, the power to authorize the issuance of and to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the President of the Board of Education, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said President of the Board of Education, consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 6. The validity of such bonds may be contested only if:

1) Such bonds are authorized for an object or purpose for which said School District is not authorized to expend money, or
2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

Peruvian Saint ProclaimedToday By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII has proclaimed a Peruvian mulatto handyman a saint and held up his dedicated life among the poor and sick as a valuable example for youth in the modern world.

The new saint was born out of wedlock nearly 400 years ago, son of a Spanish noble and his Negro mistress.

The vast throng jamming St. Peter's included representatives of the white, yellow, black and brown races. Thirty-eight cardinals were present, including Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro to become a prince of the church. Also present were Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis.

The name of "Judas tree" has been given to a species of the redbud because it is thought Judas hanged himself on such a tree.

Columbia System Of Coalition Is Endorsed Sunday

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Voters endorsed Colombia's system of coalition government by an overwhelming majority Sunday as the coalition's conservative candidate, Guillermo Leon Valencia, outstripped the field in the election for president.

Valencia, who claimed victory on the basis of incomplete returns, would succeed outgoing Liberal President Alberto Lleras Camargo under Colombia's system of alternating the president every four years between a Liberal and a Conservative.

Official returns from 12 of Colombia's 17 departments gave Valencia 1,099,635 votes to 337,338 for his nearest rival, leftist-supported Alfonso Lopez Michelsen. Jorge Leyva, former public works minister, was running third with 185,321. Former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla trailed the field with 39,403.

As candidate of the coalition, Valencia is committed to carry out Lleras' policy of close ties with the United States and constitutional reform at home.

There were no reports of violence. The chief issue was whether to continue the Liberal-Conservative coalition system adopted in 1958 after the two parties threw out Rojas Pinilla and combined forces. Lleras took the first turn under the alternating system and this year it was the Conservatives' turn.

Wappingers Man Is Dutchess' 15th Highway Fatality

Dutchess County's 15th highway fatality of 1962 occurred Saturday night when John Shaul, 27, of 244 Old Post Road, Wappingers Falls, was killed in a one car accident on Van Wagner Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Gary Schmitt, 20, of 178 North Clinton Street, Poughkeepsie, operator of the sports car, was admitted to St. Francis' Hospital, that city, suffering multiple injuries.

Dr. Chester H. Golding, Dutchess County Medical examiner, who investigated the fatality with Town of Poughkeepsie police and Assistant District Attorney John Heilman, said Shaul died of a skull fracture.

Authorities said the car was traveling along Van Wagner Road when it went out of control on a curve and overturned. Arlington firemen were dispatched to the scene to wash gasoline from the highway.

Dutchess County's 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th highway deaths occurred on July 23, 1961, as the result of a two-car collision on a curve on Howland Avenue, Beacon.

Further steps in a proposed building program for the Rhinebeck Central School District, will be discussed tonight at a school board meeting with a representative of Moore and Hutchins, New York City consulting firm.

Robert W. Asher, chairman of the school district's building committee, said Saturday the board may engage the New York City firm, which has done other work in the district. Asher said an architect has not been engaged for a building project as yet.

A week ago residents of the Rhinebeck district approved a budget of $829,679, which included funds for options on property and preliminary plans for building.

The building committee has sites in mind for a new building project.

Seek Creation In Dutchess of Public Defender

A Dutchess County Attorney, Herbert J. Davis, secretary of Dutchess County Bar Association, the last 32 years, has proposed the creation of the office of public defender in that county to relieve attorneys of assignments without pay.

"County lawyers should resist these continued and increasing demands upon their time," Davis said Saturday night. "The only solution to the problem of assignments of attorneys without compensation is the creation by the Board of Supervisors of the office of public defender."

Davis noted that the 1961 Legislature authorized counties in the size and classification of Dutchess County to set up the office of public defender. This year, Davis said, the Legislature extended the same power to counties with a population of less than 100,000.

Davis' proposal was made after his assignment by County Judge John R. Schwartz last week to represent a defendant, who was indicted on a forgery charge. Davis said he would bill the county for his services.

Dozing Motorist Hits Sign, Does Property Damage

Eugene Lappin, 25, of 21 Mulberry Street, New Paltz, allegedly fell asleep while driving a car early Sunday morning in New Paltz, struck a "stop" sign and proceeded across to the Ben Rubin premises at 95 North Chestnut Street, damaging the lawn, shrubbery and house, deputy sheriffs reported.

The accident happened at Broadhead Avenue and North Chestnut Street at 2:40 a. m. Sunday.

Deputy Sheriffs Emil Kuhnen and Jack Seaholm were on patrol when they came on the accident. They were assisted in the investigation by Officer Edward Walsh of the New Paltz Police Department.

Lappin was traveling north on North Chestnut when he said he fell asleep. New Paltz Fire Department and an ambulance was summoned and Lappin was taken to Kingston Hospital after treatment by Dr. William M. Pugliese. He received concusion, a fractured nasal bone, fractured ribs on the right side and was admitted to the hospital.

The front of the car was considerably damaged.

Car Overturns

Two Boys, 14, Face Car Theft Charges

Charged with stealing an automobile from Rensselaer early Sunday, two 14-year-old boys were apprehended by Massachusetts authorities and returned to Rensselaer to face charges in Children's court.

Leeds State Police said Madeline Vita, operator of a drive-in stand on Route 32 at Cairo, complained to authorities early yesterday that someone had broke into the establishment and stole cigarettes, candy and other merchandise.

Troopers learned the identity of an automobile that had been seen near the drive-in and teletype alarms were sent out. Massachusetts troopers took the boys in custody and recovered the stolen vehicle and some of the loot.

State Police said no charges involving the burglary were anticipated, because the boys will be prosecuted on the car theft charge.

Red Leaders, Two Rebels Caught in Carupano Area

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —A Venezuelan warship captured several Communist leaders and two rebel naval officers fleeing in a boat after the collapse of the weekend uprising in Carupano.

The government announced in a communique today that Red deputy Eloy Torres was among the fugivites seized by the destroyer Moran off the coast of Venezuela.

President Romulo Betancourt praised the loyalty of the government forces in crushing the revolt he charged was sparked by Communists in an attempt to set up a Castro-type regime in Venezuela.

The rebellion of 400 marines and 50 military policemen in the port city of Carupano, 300 miles east of Caracas, never really got off the ground.

The rebels put up a brief fight but failed to rally any popular support among the 16,000 residents of Carupano or the rest of the country.

The government placed the total casualties at between 5 and 40 dead and 30 to 150 wounded. Government losses were announced at 2 dead and 10 wounded.

Peruvian Saint ProclaimedToday By Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII has proclaimed a Peruvian mulatto handyman a saint and held up his dedicated life among the poor and sick as a valuable example for youth in the modern world.

The new saint was born out of wedlock nearly 400 years ago, son of a Spanish noble and his Negro mistress.

The vast throng jamming St. Peter's included representatives of the white, yellow, black and brown races. Thirty-eight cardinals were present, including Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, first Negro to become a prince of the church. Also present were Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis.

Columbia System Of Coalition Is Endorsed Sunday

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Voters endorsed Colombia's system of coalition government by an overwhelming majority Sunday as the coalition's conservative candidate, Guillermo Leon Valencia, outstripped the field in the election for president.

Valencia, who claimed victory on the basis of incomplete returns, would succeed outgoing Liberal President Alberto Lleras Camargo under Colombia's system of alternating the president every four years between a Liberal and a Conservative.

Official returns from 12 of Colombia's 17 departments gave Valencia 1,099,635 votes to 337,338 for his nearest rival, leftist-supported Alfonso Lopez Michelsen. Jorge Leyva, former public works minister, was running third with 185,321. Former dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla trailed the field with 39,403.

As candidate of the coalition, Valencia is committed to carry out Lleras' policy of close ties with the United States and constitutional reform at home.

There were no reports of violence. The chief issue was whether to continue the Liberal-Conservative coalition system adopted in 1958 after the two parties threw out Rojas Pinilla and combined forces. Lleras took the first turn under the alternating system and this year it was the Conservatives' turn.

Wappingers Man Is Dutchess' 15th Highway Fatality

Dutchess County's 15th highway fatality of 1962 occurred Saturday night when John Shaul, 27, of 244 Old Post Road, Wappingers Falls, was killed in a one car accident on Van Wagner Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Gary Schmitt, 20, of 178 North Clinton Street, Poughkeepsie, operator of the sports car, was admitted to St. Francis' Hospital, that city, suffering multiple injuries.

Dr. Chester H. Golding, Dutchess County Medical examiner, who investigated the fatality with Town of Poughkeepsie police and Assistant District Attorney John Heilman, said Shaul died of a skull fracture.

Authorities said the car was traveling along Van Wagner Road when it went out of control on a curve and overturned. Arlington firemen were dispatched to the scene to wash gasoline from the highway.

Dutchess County's 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th highway deaths occurred on July 23, 1961, as the result of a two-car collision on a curve on Howland Avenue, Beacon.

The building committee has sites in mind for a new building project.

Seek Creation In Dutchess of Public Defender

A Dutchess County Attorney, Herbert J. Davis, secretary of Dutchess County Bar Association, the last 32 years, has proposed the creation of the office of public defender in that county to relieve attorneys of assignments without pay.

"County lawyers should resist these continued and increasing demands upon their time," Davis said Saturday night. "The only solution to the problem of assignments of attorneys without compensation is the creation by the Board of Supervisors of the office of public defender."

Davis noted that the 1961 Legislature authorized counties in the size and classification of Dutchess County to set up the office of public defender. This year, Davis said, the Legislature extended the same power to counties with a population of less than 100,000.

Davis' proposal was made after his assignment by County Judge John R. Schwartz last week to represent a defendant, who was indicted on a forgery charge. Davis said he would bill the county for his services.

Eugene Lappin, 25, of 21 Mulberry Street, New Paltz, allegedly fell asleep while driving a car early Sunday morning in New Paltz, struck a "stop" sign and proceeded across to the Ben Rubin premises at 95 North Chestnut Street, damaging the lawn, shrubbery and house, deputy sheriffs reported.

The accident happened at Broadhead Avenue and North Chestnut Street at 2:40 a. m. Sunday.

Deputy Sheriffs Emil Kuhnen and Jack Seaholm were on patrol when they came on the accident. They were assisted in the investigation by Officer Edward Walsh of the New Paltz Police Department.

Lappin was traveling north on North Chestnut when he said he fell asleep. New Paltz Fire Department and an ambulance was summoned and Lappin was taken to Kingston Hospital after treatment by Dr. William M. Pugliese. He received concusion, a fractured nasal bone, fractured ribs on the right side and was admitted to the hospital.

The front of the car was considerably damaged.

Two Boys, 14, Face Car Theft Charges

Charged with stealing an automobile from Rensselaer early Sunday, two 14-year-old boys were apprehended by Massachusetts authorities and returned to Rensselaer to face charges in Children's court.

Leeds State Police said Madeline Vita, operator of a drive-in stand on Route 32 at Cairo, complained to authorities early yesterday that someone had broke into the establishment and stole cigarettes, candy and other merchandise.

Troopers learned the identity of an automobile that had been seen near the drive-in and teletype alarms were sent out. Massachusetts troopers took the boys in custody and recovered the stolen vehicle and some of the loot.

State Police said no charges involving the burglary were anticipated, because the boys will be prosecuted on the car theft charge.

Red Leaders, Two Rebels Caught in Carupano Area

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —A Venezuelan warship captured several Communist leaders and two rebel naval officers fleeing in a boat after the collapse of the weekend uprising in Carupano.

The government announced in a communique today that Red deputy Eloy Torres was among the fugivites seized by the destroyer Moran off the coast of Venezuela.

President Romulo Betancourt praised the loyalty of the government forces in crushing the revolt he charged was sparked by Communists in an attempt to set up a Castro-type regime in Venezuela.

The rebellion of 400 marines and 50 military policemen in the port city of Carupano, 300 miles east of Caracas, never really got off the ground.

The rebels put up a brief fight but failed to rally any popular support among the 16,000 residents of Carupano or the rest of the country.

The government placed the total casualties at between 5 and 40 dead and 30 to 150 wounded. Government losses were announced at 2 dead and 10 wounded.
